NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(UP)— Slight improvement in the steel industry together with slightly increased demand brought the stock market up 1 to 3 points today. Best prices of the day were made in the last few minutes of trading.

Steel common was carried to a new high for the day a few minutes before the final gong above 37, against a low for the day of 35 made shortly after the opening.
Steel preferred gained more than 3 points.

United Aircraft was brought out in large blocks late in the day at prices more than 3 points above yesterday's last. Pool operations in that issue were aided by official reports of the company's receipt of several large orders for planes and engines.

Gains of 1 to more than 3 points were made by J. I. Case, Westinghouse Electric, Union Carbide, Sears Roebuck, American Tobacco B, Bethlehem Steel, American Can and Auburn Auto.

Railroad shares were carried up
1 to 3 points. Missouri-Kansas-Texas featured the low priced group, rising to a new 1932 high.
Union Pacific, Lackawanna, Atchison, New York Central and Southern Pacific were bid up 1 to more than 2 points.

American Telephone, selling ex-
-dividend, rose more than 2 points to around 108, while utilities generally registered small gains.

Bonds were steady to firm with United States governments the feature.

Several of the latter made new highs for the year. Cotton gained a few points while wheat closed fractionally higher.

Late in the day, the American metal market, steel authority, estimated steel production at 16 per cent of capacity, against an average of 15 percent in the past fortnight. Steel ingot production this Organization Suggests Sales, Shipping Conferences as Immediate Relief

A BANDONMENT of efforts to place into operation the revised agreement for the proration of Valencia oranges from California cooperative and independent packing houses loomed today with the announcement that the Mutual Orange Distributors would not become a party to the revised prorate agreement.

The participation of the M. O. D. was essential to make up the 90 per cent of the total Valencia crop control in the state regarded as necessary for the successful operation of the proration scheme.
With the refusal of the organization to participate, leaders of the movement to revive the prorate agreement in a revised form today said that it was unlikely that the scheme would be put into effect this season, which is so far advanced.

Offer Alternative

In lieu of the abandoned prorate agreement, the M. O. D. offered a suggestion of immediate and temporary aid to the growers in the revival of the conferences between sales executives of the various shipping organizations and also a plan of agreement between the growers and their packing units and the packing houses and a neutral unit, which the organization officials believe will effect a permanent solution to major citrus distribution problems, according to a statement released
today by M. O. D. officials from the Redlands office.

The riot occurred as workers were leaving the plant of the R. &
Wash Suit Co., late yesterday.
The mill had been placed under guard of detectives when it reopened yesterday morning after a strike.

There was a flurry of shots as a crowd of strike sympathizers descended on the plant. Walter Rosek fell mortally wounded.

Incensed, several hundred citizens joined the strike sympathizers, swelling the crowd to an estimated strength of 3000. It rapidly

today by M. O. D. officials
from the Redlands office.

Windows Are Nothing
When He Goes

FRESNO, Calif., Sept. 20.—(UP)—
To John Doe Johnson, colored, there is one word which means get from where he is to where he ain't in the shortest possible time.

Fellow workmen at the Fresno compress whispered that word. They told Johnson, "seriously," that a mob was coming to lynch him.

Johnson didn't wait for further details. He took the quickest way out. It happened to be through a window. He landed running.

Deputy sheriffs, called later to the place, measured the distance from the sill to the ground. It was 30 feet, including 15 feet of rose trellis.

SOUTH RIVER, N. J., Sept. 20.—
(UP)—State troopers restored order here today after a textile strike riot in which an 11 year old boy bystander was shot to death and four other persons, including another boy, were wounded by bullets.

Several others were injured less seriously by brickbats, stones and other missiles hurled in a clash bepathizers.

PRIMARIES ARE HELD TODAY IN THREE STATES

Eyes of Nation Turned on Wisconsin; Dry Fight
Waged in New York

BY UNITED PRESS

THE LAST STATE primaries before the presidential election were held today in Wisconsin,
New York and Massachusetts.

National political interest centered on Wisconsin contests which will determine the strength of the progressive LaFollette organization in this year of upsets for many incumbents in office.

In New York the prohibition issue played a part in many of the fights for party nominations for seats in the house and state legislature.

Gov. Joseph B. Ely, Democratic governor of Massachusetts was unopposed for renomination. Four Republicans aspired to be his opponent in the November election, including Lieut. Gov. William S.
Youngman. The Bay state will also choose party nominees for eight house seats.

Indications were that a record vote might be cast in Wisconsin where Gov. Philip LaFollette is opposed for the Republican nomination by former Governor Walter J. Kohler. Senator Blaine, seeking renomination, has as an opponent for the party honor, John E. Chaplin, Ashland, Wis., publisher. The Democratic nomination for governor is sought by three candidates, but Ryan Duffy is unopposed for the party's nomination for senate.

Today's climax to the series of state primaries which have given an insight into the political sentiments of American voters during this presidential year, will leave the stage free for the national election.

The text of the president's statement, referring to press dispatches, follows:

"With reference to press dispatches from Paris on the German arms question, the position of this government is clear. The sole question in which this country is interested is in reducing armaments of the world, step by step.

PLANNING DRIVE TO KEEP WRIGHT ACT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20.—(UP)—
A drive to keep the Wright act on the state's statutes has been launched by the Methodist Ministers' Association of Los Angeles, which at the same time has endorsed the candidacy of the Rev
R. P. Shuler for United States senator.

Retention of the Wright act is fundamental, Dr. A. H. Briggs, superintendent of the California Anti-Saloon league told the association. "Drastic measures are necessary to prevent its removal from the statutes," he added.

"If we don't look out, the act will be defeated by 200,000 or 300,000 majority."

The group designated Sept. 25 and October 9 as "Wright Law Days" for Los Angeles churches, when Protestant ministers will raise funds to be used to supply literature in support of the Wright act.

"There is," emphasized the aggressive Boston mayor, "more than an obligation of friendship. There is also an obligation of duty—to save the nation from the incompetence which has plunged it into despair."

CONDITION OF L. B. MOTORIST CRITICAL

The condition of James Wesley McClelland, 25, Long Beach man residing at 1530 East Fourteenth street, injured when his car turned over at Orana Saturday night, was reported critical today.

He is in the Orange county hospital, where attendants stated a broken vertebra in the spine has caused the lower part of his body to become paralyzed. They held little hope for his recovery.

McClelland's car crashed into a machine at Santa Clara avenue and North Main streets a short time before it turned over at Orana and he is being held under arrest on a charge of failure to stop and render aid.

FOREIGN WAR VETERANS MAKE NOMINATIONS

N. E. Meister and John E. State were nominated for commander of the Santa Ana post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the regular meeting held last night at the K. of F. hall. Officers will be elected at the meeting to be held October 2. William M. Kelley of Garden Grove is the present commander.

Other officers nominated were as follows: Senior vice commander, Charles E. Camm and Charles W. Kincaid; junior vice commander, Glenn B. Hendrickson and Roy B. Miles; officer of the day, Elmer Saylor and Paul Jones; chaplain, William E. Armstrong, James A. Randal and George Areia; quartermaster, Roy Miles; judge-advocate, Frank Besser.

It was announced at the meeting last night that James M. Pearson, Fullerton chief of police, who is a charter member of the local post, has transferred to the Fullerton post. He held the position of junior commander at the time of his transfer.

Announcement was made that the post members will join with members of the auxiliary in a pot luck supper to be held at the K. of F. hall next Monday night.

Police In Search For Missing Man

Santa Ana police are today aiding in the search for a 72-year-old Visalia man, reported missing from his home.

The man is Tom Wiggins, who walked away from his home several weeks ago. A report from the Visalia police received today was to the effect that Wiggins is believed to be corresponding with R. E. Stone, of 1653 West Myrtle street, Santa Ana. So far, police have been unable to find Stone.

$31,148 DAMAGE SUIT BEFORE COURT

Damages totalling $31,148.55 are demanded of Theo Winbigler and Ernest Winbigler, as individuals and as partners in the Winbigler Funeral Home, and Leonard Baker, their employee, in a suit which went to trial this morning before Superior Judge James L. Allen.

The action, filed by C. J. Shultz of Santa Ana, and his four children, is demanding $20,452 for the death of Shultz's wife, Mrs. Margaret Shultz, as a result of injuries received when the Shultz car was struck by an automobile driven by Baker. Shultz, himself is demanding $10,796.55 for injuries received in the same crash. The accident is said to have occurred at the intersection of Eighth and Baker streets on November 24, last.

Joint plaintiffs with Shultz are his four children; Mrs. Catherine Shipkey, Fullerion; Mrs. Genieve Hiskey, Carl Shultz and Jack Shultz, all of Santa Ana.

M. O. D. REJECTS PRORATE PLAN

BANK IN LONDON WASHES COINS TO SAVE CUSTOMERS

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(UPI)—There is a bank in London that for years has been carefully washing its money before it hands it out to patrons.

There was a reason for this ultra-cleanliness. The bank is located in Eastcheap, near the Billingsgate fish market, and daily it receives a large supply of coin from the market, covered with fish scales, herring roe, crumbs of ice, and other filth.

The bank's other customers complained. They objected to receiving money all stuck together, reeking of fish, and which turned green after a time.

So the bank bought a large washing pan, washing soda, special small meshed sieves, and sacks of drying dust. Every evening, until recently, a couple of hundred-weight of unmistakable Billingsgate silver would be boiled, portion by portion, stirred amid an aromatic steam of assorted fish.

Modernity is threatening the famous washing. "Something has come over these Billingsgate merchants," admitted the chief laundress.

In California, the system was begun in Los Angeles, where a few men arranged to work for shares of crops of farm produce in exchange for their labor.

The organization was seen by its proponents as the only eventual solution of the unemployment distress program. Governments, they pointed out, cannot go on indefinitely providing funds for unemployment relief.

No salaries will be paid by the state organization, they said, and, so far as can be avoided, no cash taken in exchange for labor.

Delegates at the meeting were from Los Angeles, Orange, Santa Barbara, Santa Clara, Ventura, Alameda and Kern counties.

Fire believed by authorities to have been of incendiary origin, damaged the old Ballard property, located at 701 East Fourth street at 10:30 o'clock last night. The damage was estimated at $1500, which is fully covered by insurance.

The property, vacant at the time, is owned by James L. Davis, 518 South Birch street.

Firemen from four companies answered the alarm and found a stubborn blaze which they battled for two hours under the direction of Fire Chief John Luxembourg. The fire started in the basement at the rear of the building and ate its way to the top of the three story structure before it was brought under control. Smoke from the fire swept the business district of the city, sending hundreds of persons to the scene.

The building is three stories and contains 12 rooms.

COPS TURN COWBOYS

PORTLAND, Ore.—There was no question that what ferocious animal was that stood in the dead of night pawing up the earth in front of the car of Deputy Sheriffs Willis and Minnely. It turned out to be a rampaging bull. It took the two men, two and a truck and a power pumper to get the bull back into his stall.

At this time we respectfully submit the following suggestions which we believe will assist in making it possible to solve in a sound and constructive manner the problem of adjusting supply of citrus fruits to demand:

We believe that those basic principles should be recognized:

That the welfare of the individual growers is paramount and any plan affecting the grower's fruit must be designed solely for the purpose of benefiting the individual growers of California;

That the plan first must be actually approved by the individual citrus growers who own or control the acreage which on the average each year produces an adequate control volume of our total yearly crop. Previous plans worked on have placed this volume at 90 per cent;

That all shipping groups should realize their man-power and resources constructively to build their selling efficiency, and to create new market outlets;

Need Common Interest

"That before it is possible for any group to gather at a table and settle common problems such as the matter of co-ordinated handling of any of our fruit there must be a common ground on which all can meet. One of the first essentials is that each party must be willing to subscribe to the doctrine of 'live and let live.' We believe it is impossible for two or more groups to unite on a beneficial program when any one group sponsors the idea that all other groups should be destroyed or their membership weakened."

The plan suggested by the M. O. D. has its basis in the culling out of low-grades rather than permitting such to be sold while better grades are being held from market, it is explained. There would be an agreement between each grower and his packing association, with each grower giving his association the right to determine when and in what amount his fruit should be picked and what shall be culled as unfit for marketing. The packing house has its arrangement through a neutral unit, which unit determines what portion of the crop is unfit for marketing and specifies the particular fruit to be culled, but must designate only the poorest fruit in each instance. The neutral unit also should act so that no unequal burden be placed on any one packing unit or group of growers.

Further Suggestions

The M. O. D. recommends that the Neutral Unit be made up of experts in the citrus industry, and suggests that it consist of one representative, preferably the sales expert, from each shipping organization whose packing groups have entered into contracts with the Neutral Unit.

The M. O. D. further recommends that the plan become effective only when individual growers who control acreage which annually produces a volume sufficient to control are parties to the contract. Previous plans have worked on a 90 per cent basis.

STATE JOBLESS HOLD MEETING THIS MORNING

"In many instances, prices of foodstuffs are so low that farmers cannot afford to pay harvesters and sell their crops at a profit, or even for production costs. That's where the unemployed groups come in."

"They harvest the crops for a share. The farmer pays no cash and has his crop harvested. His share, he can sell for what the market will bring, and, in any case, get a better bargain than he could otherwise."

Similar loose county groups are at work in other states, Rhode-ham said.

"The movement appears to have started spontaneously in various sections of the county because of people's desperation and their reluctance to accept charity. This way, they are helping themselves."

In California, the system was begun in Los Angeles, where a few men arranged to work for shares of crops of farm produce in exchange for their labor.

The organization was seen by its proponents as the only eventual solution of the unemployment distress program.

No salaries will be paid by the state organization, they said, and, so far as can be avoided, no cash taken in exchange for labor.

"No, I will not make personal investigations. It is not the function of the mayor's office to attend burlesque shows."

Earlier he had ordered a ban on slot machines. "That has nothing to do with morals," he explained. "I am merely seeking to protect adults and children from losing their hard earned money on a 2-to-20 chance."

Meanwhile, the mayor has moved to obtain a $10,000,000 reduction in the city's light and power bill from the utilities serving it. This followed salary reductions in which he took the lead, a fight for low bidders on city contracts and an order banning some 1500 city automobiles as pleasure cars. This affected seven limousines available for attacks of the mayor's office, and chauffeurs available 24 hours.

BOGUS MONEY PASSED IN 2 BEACH CITIES

BOWL SINGER
Considered the greatest negro voice of all time, Roland Hayes will sing in Hollywood Bowl on Friday, September 30. Below Hayes is pictured in a wood cut by the artist, Louis Reno.

With the arrest of a man and woman at Corona yesterday, part of a gang of counterfeiters which has been operating in Orange county was placed under arrest and hundreds of dollars' worth of the "fake" money was confiscated.

The man was Bob Kallini, 40, and the woman, Rose G. Vucanic, 37, both of Los Angeles.

These same persons appeared in Laguna Beach Saturday afternoon and passed seven $20 certificates which were bogus, according to Abe Johnson, chief of police, and then they went from there to Newport Beach, where approximately $140 more in counterfeit money was passed, it was reported.

Confession Made

Both the man and woman admitted they had passed the money in several cities in Southern California during the past several days.

The woman had $1785.20 in good money on her person. The couple had $20 of the bogus $20 bills and each bill bore the number A-9079438-A.

The couple were arrested in the business section of Corona, a third member of the party escaping. Federal officers took the pair to Los Angeles for questioning.

The bogus bills were detected at Laguna Beach by John C. Gibson, cashier of the Citizens' bank, when a merchant made a deposit. The numbers on the bills were the same as those on the bills found on the couple arrested at Corona.

Suspicious Aroused

Two Lagunans, their suspicions aroused, refused to accept the bills, it was revealed today. Mrs. H. R. Macbeth, proprietor of an art shop in the Artists' colony, and Mrs. Stuart Avis, of a dry goods store, became suspicious because of the appearance of the man presenting them and refused to make change.

When Mrs. Avis went to the bank, Gibson asked her if she had seen any of the bogus bills. She replied that she had refused to accept one. But though she had refused to accept a bogus $20 bill, a counterfeit 50-cent piece was found when she made her deposit.

Authorities believe that the bogus $20 bills were passed in a number of cities in this vicinity.

POINT VIOLATIONS OF TRAFFIC LAWS

Violations of state traffic laws at railroad crossings particularly at East First street and the Santa Fe railroad are numerous, according to a report given Chief of Police F. W. Howard today by the California State Chamber of Commerce, through H. A. Mitchell, chairman of the street and highway safety committee.

Checkers representing the state chamber of commerce have been watching the crossing and find that sections No. 114 and No. 135 of the Motor Vehicle act are being violated, they report. These sections make it unlawful to disobey railroad crossing signals and requiring public passenger carrying vehicles to stop at the crossings.

Mitchell suggests that the police department make a more thorough enforcement of the laws at the crossings.

When Mrs. Avis went to the bank, Gibson asked her if she had seen any of the bogus bills. She replied that she had refused to accept one. But though she had refused to accept a bogus $20 bill, a counterfeit 50-cent piece was found when she made her deposit.

Authorities believe that the bogus $20 bills were passed in a number of cities in this vicinity.

Succumbs After Extended Illness

Following an illness of several months duration, Frank M. Kellogg, 76, passed away at his home, 424 East Pine street, yesterday, after having lived in Santa Ana for 13 years.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Hattie Andrews of Ceylon, Minnesota.

Funeral services and interment will be held in Schenectady, N.Y., to which place shipment will be made by the Harrell and Brown Funeral home, 116 West Seventeenth street. Interment is in Ingleside Park cemetery.

HISTORY SHOWS LIQUOR USE AS CAUSE OF DEGRADATION AND POLITICAL DEBAUCHERY

Declaring that politicians clamoring for the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment and the Wright act are counting confidently on two traits to which the average American citizen is prone, a short memory and a lazy mind, the Rev. Thomas H. Walker, pastor of the Anaheim First Presbyterian church, delivered a forceful address on the subject, "Why Retain the Eighteenth Amendment?" over KREG during the W. C. T. U. hour today.

"The politician," the speaker declared, "believes that the average citizen will forget history, however long and black and bloody; that the trail of political debauchery and crime leads brazenly to the door of the liquor traffic and that the degradation and poverty of the home and the misery and want of millions of our people has been proved through centuries of the use of liquor.

"The drinker poorer in pocket and mentally clogged and weak of will?"

"Prohibition is the great social experiment attracting the attention of the rest of the world. To every thoughtful lover of his fellowmen, an experiment studied with the hope that it will succeed not only for America but eventually for the whole world. The Eighteenth amendment can be enforced as surely and as perfectly as any other provision of the Constitution.

"The American people who had not lost either wisdom or courage to see that it is enforced and its enemies silenced."

"Deceives People

"This is its history and it is running true to form today, openly defying the Constitution, deceiving people with fair promises of work for the unemployed and revenue for the depleted treasury of the country, both of which promises history compels us to believe will not and cannot be realized by a return of the liquor traffic.

"Let the wets suggest a real improvement on the prohibition of the business. There has been a lot of 'ballyhoo' but in all the much-debated platforms and speeches favoring repeal there has been not one constructive plan for the control of this outlawed traffic if it is allowed to return to a place in American life under the protection of the Stars and Stripes.

"They plan to go back to the old systems of control but give them new names. Like the farmer who painted his pump when told that the typhoid fever that was ravaging his family was due to the water in the old well.

"The Canadian and state option systems are lame ducks, someone said. Reports from Canada show conclusively that their system has neither eliminated the bootlegger nor the rapidly increasing consumption of liquor. And history shows that to put the government into this disreputable business would open new avenues of graft and the debauchery of public officials.

"Pertinent Questions

"Gangsters and racketeers are no invention of the Twentieth century. They are simply profitting by a situation arising out of the laxity with which the law has been enforced.

"How can legalizing what is now illegal make for less drinking rather than more? That is a figment of a very wet imagination. How would the country become more prosperous with the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, since the Armfield's application be granted.

11 BURGLARIES CLEARED UP BY ARREST OF BOY

Correction Made In Heading For Acquittal Story

Request for correction of a headline appearing in The Register of May 30 has been made by Carl Burns, well known Santa Ana, which The Register is glad to make.

The story in question referred to the acquittal of Burns by a jury in Los Angeles on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder which was filed as a result of a quarrel with his wife.

The headline in question read

"Acquitted By Jury on Murder Charge; Arrested for Theft" and it should have read "Acquitted For Assault Charge; Arrested For Theft."

COUNCIL ACTION ASSURES NIGHT FOOTBALL HERE

Final details for the staging of night football in Santa Ana were completed last night when the city council voted to put the Olive street bowl in condition so that the field could be rented to the Santa Ana Junior college for a game on the night of September 20.

The council voted to improve the field provided it did not cost more than $75, for the first game. Estimates were that the fencing and conditioning of the field would not be more than $50, according to Paul Witmer, mayor.

The junior college is anxious to try out night football here. Fans throughout the city believe it will prove highly successful. The city is to get a flat 10 per cent of the gross from the first game and games after that, if any, will see the city collecting a flat $50 rental per night.

There was no number 13 in the young men's division of the contest last night.

Second place for young women went to Jean Baldwin of 114 Ocean avenue, Huntington Beach, and second place for young men in the county was won by George Fyrster of San Juan Capistrano.

The contest was sponsored by the Civic Music Association of Orange county, of which Dr. Herbert A. Johnston of Anaheim is president and Clarence Gustlin of Santa Ana secretary.

Mrs. Archibald M. Edwards of Fullerton, who was chairman of the contest arrangements, expressed appreciation for the use of KREG as a medium for the judging and vocal presentations, during the contest which was broadcast last night.

Judges were Prof. Ralph W. Lyman, head of the music department of Pomona College, Claremont; Mrs. Nina Wolfe Dickinson, voice teacher of Long Beach and junior president of the Music Arts club, and Gilbert Wilson of Laguna Beach, former opera singer and voice teacher.

The second place winners will act as alternates for the first place winners. The state-wide contest will be held in the middle of October over KHJ in Los Angeles. Both of the Orange county first place winners will participate.

National winners are awarded a $5000 prize.

Following is the list of Orange county contestants who sang over KREG last night, with the number following the name indicating

ORANGE COUNTY ENTRIES WIN FAIR PRIZES

Orange county's attractive entry among the many elaborate feature displays at the combined Orange, Riverside and Los Angeles counties fair in Pomona, entered by the fair for the entire citrus division.

The display, a picture of which was published in The Register Saturday, is a replica of the famous old San Juan Capistrano mission. The adobe bricks showing through the broken plaster of the walls, are made of oranges and about the patio there are the fruits and other products of this county. Commanding an excellent position in the great agricultural building, the entry is a center of interest and admiration.

In addition to the citrus award, Orange county walked off with three prizes for quilts entered by Orange county women, out of 175 quilts at the fair and several other prizes in this division. The displays are in glass show cases on the main floor of the new grandstand building. Mrs. W. B. McConnell of Santa Ana, was in charge of the women's division of the fair entries from this county.

LONGFELLOWS FILE ANNUAL PROTEST ON LOW AWNINGS

Renewing efforts to eliminate low awnings in the downtown district, the Santa Ana Junior college Longfellows, through Doug McAdam, president, today had sent their fourth annual letter to the city council requesting that permanent rather than temporary enforcement be made on an ordinance regulating the heights of awnings in Santa Ana.

"Another thing which has bothered us considerably is the new laws reached by trees bordering sidewalks in the residential district. We can prove that, in certain sections of Santa Ana, branches of many trees swing no higher than four and one-half feet from the sidewalk. Imagine members of our club wading through such underbrush!"

The six-foot collegians will hold their first meeting of the new term at the college tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock.

Plans for entering the Main-Lowen parade at Anaheim and for the presentation of two assemblies will be discussed. Milton V. Newcomer is faculty advisor of the organization.

Charged with possession of liquor, Lester L. Patch, resident of El Modena avenue, Newport Heights, pleaded guilty before Judge Donald Dodge, in the Costa Mesa justice court today. Time for the pronouncement of judgment was set for tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Patch was arrested after Constable Jess Elliott and several deputy constables raided his home yesterday afternoon late and found 65 gallons of beer, it was reported.

Much of the beer was in the ice box, but more of it was found in a cleverly concealed cellar at the rear of the house, it was reported.

Ellott said today he had received numerous complaints about the house.

CONSTABLES RAID HOME; SEIZE BEER

Montgomery Ward Increases Orders Over 25 Per Cent

More than $10,500,000 will be poured into the commodity and manufacturers' market during the last four months of the year by Montgomery Ward and company's Pacific coast units. Of this amount $7,500,000 will be spent with Pacific coast factories and in western markets. This was the announcement made today by E. L. Madden, Santa Ana manager, in explaining his firm's purchasing program for the last part of 1932.

The special speaker of the evening will be Von T. Ellsworth, director of the California Farm Bureau Federation, who will explain in detail the proposed constitutional amendment transferring to the state portion of the school tax burden now carried by the counties. Orange county, it is said, may save $1,000,000 each year if the measure goes through, according to the announcement.

Those who plan to attend are asked to make reservations in advance of the meeting, which is to start with a dinner.

COUNTY C. OF G. TO BE GUEST OF FARM BUREAU

The first meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County as guests of the Orange County Farm Bureau will be held at 6:30 p. m. September 27 at the Santa Ana Elbell club house on French street, it was announced today by Harry M. May, secretary.

The special speaker of the evening will be Von T. Ellsworth, director of the California Farm Bureau Federation, who will explain in detail the proposed constitutional amendment transferring to the state portion of the school tax burden now carried by the counties. Orange county, it is said, may save $1,000,000 each year if the measure goes through, according to the announcement.

NO FAIR PEEPING

EL PASO, Tex.—Francisco Casay didn't mind Ezequiel Valbuena serenading his wife. In fact, he rather likes the guitar playing. Valbuena did under his wife's window. "But Valbuena got to climb in on the roof and peep in at my wife at night," Casay told police. "When Valbuena refused to go, Casay got the coppers to put him in the jug."

Junior Orchestra Is Reorganized

What is considered an unusual offer to parents who wish to start their children on a musical instrument this season, has been announced by Julian D. Mathews, band instrument instructor.

Without cost, he is giving any band instrument with the 30-week lesson course, he announced. One lesson is given each week and at the end of the course the instrument becomes the property of the person taking lessons.

The Junior Orchestra is again being organized at the Mathews studio at 818 North Ross street, to continue the work which was suspended during the summer months.

Mathews has become a member of the faculty of the Gustlin Music Arts conservatory on North Symon street.

Mrs. C. W. Johnson, of Santa

First prize for a center piece in colored embroidery was won by Mrs. R. C. Butler, of Santa Ana. Mrs. Butler also won first prize for a dollie 100 years old and took prizes for canned fruit. Mrs. John Johnson, of Santa Ana, won first prize for towels and first prize for woven yardage. Miss Ada Brown, of Santa Ana, won second prize for a wool embroidered wall hanging. Miss Paul Chaney, of Laguna Beach, was awarded second prize for a center piece with cut-work.

A fellowship dinner will be served tonight at 6:30 o'clock at Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church, South, North Broadway and Church street. All the families of the church and their friends have been invited by the church Brotherhood which will have charge of the arrangements and the program. There will be music under the direction of J. W. Nuckles. Short talks by the pastor, and the heads of the various departments, including T. J. Hunter, L. A. West, Mrs. C. M. Aker, Miss Verna Jones and Prof. R. A. Schostag, on the different phases of the church work will be followed by a social and get-acquainted hour.

Through an error made in Friday's edition of The Register, it was reported that M. B. Strand, Santa Ana man, was arrested on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, for Selma officers.

The booking at the county jail shows that he was booked for violation of motor vehicle law No. 113, which is speeding. Violation of the liquor law under the motor vehicle laws is No. 112.

SAN FRANCISCO—San Francisco Bay Airdrome, serving three air lines, reports a sixty per cent increase in air passenger traffic for July, 1932, over the same month of 1931. About 4495 planes used the airport and carried over 11,000 passengers during the month.

'TALKING HEN' TO BE SHOWN AT FAIR

What promises to be one of the most popular as well as one of the most novel of the thousands of exhibits at Los Angeles County fair in Pomona, September 16 to 25 will be the "talking hen" entered by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The "hen" is six feet high and is, in reality, only half a hen for it is sliced so that the spectators can see the inside workings. Made of wood, wallboard and steel, the "hen" is designed to show the process of the manufacture of an egg. The talk is produced by special phonograph records and amplifiers. The mechanical hen uses the voice very effectively to explain just how the egg is made. As she talks the process is carried out inside the body as the organs are operated by means of motors. The "hen" was shown first in London, England as a part of the United States exhibit at the Fourth World's Poultry Congress, and was one of the sensations of the show. After two years of effort, Los Angeles County fair officials finally succeeded in securing the "hen" for Southern California.

Associated Oil Keeps Majority Of Men On Jobs

Consistently following a plan, inaugurated two years ago, of alleviating unemployment, Associated Oil company has been highly successful in maintaining on its payroll a large percentage of its operating personnel despite lowered activity occasioned by the crude oil curtailment program.

Associated ranks among the first of the major California oil companies to establish a system of shorter working periods. With the exception of its supervisory force, the employees of the field department are now working on a monthly half-time basis. By means of this plan, employees work through a two-week period of each month, with the remaining two consecutive weeks off.

Employees of the drilling division of the company have been placed on a one-third time basis, with 10 days on and 20 days off. In the pipeline division, Associated has placed a large majority of employees on the basis of a four and five-day week, with a small group working half time. In Associated Oil company refineries, operating forces are working on the basis of 160 hours per month, or approximately four days out of six.

By adoption of this working schedule, the company has contributed materially in relieving unemployment by maintaining many hundreds of employees on the payroll.

NOW SCIENCE TELLS WHY BRAN IS SO GOOD FOR HEALTH

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Has
"Bulky" and Vitamin B;
Also Healthful Iron

By using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, millions of people have overcome common constipation, and the headaches, loss of appetite and energy that frequently result.

New laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN supplies two things needed to overcome temporary and recurring constipation: "Bulky" to exercise the intestines. Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulky" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently it clears the intestines of wastes.

Further experiments prove ALL-BRAN provides twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Eat this delicious cereal and avoid pills and drugs. They cause artificial action, and often lead to harmful habits.

Try two tablespoonsfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily—sufficient to overcome most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN has a delicious, nutty flavor. Enjoy as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in making fluffy bran muffins, breads, omelets, etc. Recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Peace of Mind Sold on Easy Payments

PEACE OF MIND exceeds in value everything else that money or effort can buy in this world.

Now that we are emerging from years of trouble and doubt, many have learned this lesson: to seek, first, peace of mind through SECURITY—to have a reserve of interest—paying money available to banish the fear of destitution from their minds.

Nearly everyone who has bought and is enjoying this peace of mind, purchased it on "easy payments." The instalment plan differed from that on which they bought other luxuries in that interest was added to the accumulation, instead of being deducted from the payments.

GAGNEY FILM ENDS
RUN HERE TONIGHT

James Cagney's new picture for Warner Bros., "The Crowd Roars," a story of high-speed auto racing, comes tonight at Walker's State theater.

"The Crowd Roars" is one of the most exciting productions that has been screened in years. It tells the story of a racing champion who loses his nerve because of the death of his pal and partner, through his (Cagney's) daring driving. His regeneration and subsequent winning of the Indianapolis Speedway contest is vividly pictured in an exciting climax.

Supporting James Cagney and Joan Blondell in "The Crowd Roars" are Eric Linden, who plays the part of Cagney's kid brother, and Ann Dvorak who is cast as Jimmy's girl, Frank McHugh, Guy Kubbe and other well known actors are in the cast besides several professional racing drivers of international reputation.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Sept. 20.—Fred Eague of Los Angeles, visited O. M. Stephenson here recently.

Miss Ray Chandler and brother, L. Keller, of Puebla, were callers in the home of Mrs. Addie L. Blakey recently.

Mrs. R. M. Pollard and members of the family, who have been staying temporarily with local friends, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gill, have moved to Garden Grove, where they are located on Eighth street. The Pollards, who are former Westminster residents, spent the summer at Waco, where Mr. Pollard was in charge of a gun club. Mr. Pollard will join his family later.

Mrs. George Clough spent one day at San Pedro with her mother, Mrs. J. J. Hanson.

A group of five Aloha Rebekah members gathered at Odd Fellows' hall Thursday morning to put a quilt into the frames preparatory for a quilting "bee" for the Rebekahs at later meetings. Those present were Mrs. Mand Michl, Mrs. May Mansperger, Mrs. Linda Daniel, Mrs. Alice Hale, Mrs. Anna Abbott.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Lawrence had as dinner guests Thursday evening, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Dooley, friends from Santa Ana.

Mrs. Lydia Hylton and young son were brought to their home from St. Joseph's hospital Friday.

The J. L. Edward place on Westminster avenue, just east of the Westminster school, has been purchased by Ernest Parker, of Huntington Beach, who for the past three years has operated a service station on Huntington Beach boulevard near Five Points. Mr. and Mrs. Edward and family will give possession by the first of the month. Marian Parker will be a pupil in the sixth grade.

A "charivari" observing the 18th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Lawrence of Westminster avenue, was sponsored by a group of relatives at the Lawrence home this week. A big oil tank served as a drum, there was a dinner bell, whistle and sacks of tin cans used in the celebration by the group. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were brought by the self-invited visitors and served later in the evening. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Rueben Farnsworth and sons, Cecil and Elmer and daughter, Marie, of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Farnsworth, of Talbert, and Mrs. C. E. Eastwood, a neighbor.

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, Sept. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. Evert Cone have returned to their home in Lemonade, after a lengthy stay in the home of Mrs. Cone's mother, Mrs. John Leutwiler, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Davies and family, of Midway City, have moved into the Leutwiler home.

The W. W. G. girls of the Baptist church held a meeting at the church recently. This organization is a junior missionary group and Miss Margaret Thornton is the leader.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Berry entertained with a pot luck dinner at their home on West Era Avenue Tuesday evening. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Welch, Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Schneupbach and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Ridgeway and their families.

Daniel Flory, of Lawrence, Kans., have left for his home in the east after a visit in La Habra and Whittier with relatives. While in La Habra he was the guest of his cousin, R. E. Warner.

Miss Martha Heaberlin, of Pomona college, was a guest Tuesday of Edith McClure.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Siebe returned this week from a two weeks' visit with their son, Orville, at Thermians.

OF LISTENERS

NBC Political Commentator, and Henry P. Seidemann of the Brookings Institution, Washington, D. C.

Alfred E. Smith will speak as an editor in an address during Bill Schod's "Going to Press" program tomorrow over the Columbia network including KHJ. This event is scheduled for 1 p. m.

A medley of popular melodies by Charles Wakefield Cadman will be featured by Andre Kostelanetz, conducting the Musical Album of Popular Classics during the broadcast from 8 to 8:30 o'clock this evening over the Columbia network including KHJ. Other features of the presentation will include Strauss' "Tales from the Vienna Woods" and Rachmaninoff's C sharp minor Prelude arranged for male chorus and piano. Artists who will take part in the program will be Rhoda Arnold, soprano; Barbara Maurel, contralto; Crane Calder, bass; Emanuel Bay, violinist; and the Columbia male chorus and orchestra.

During the presentation of these lectures Dr. Workman will give many valuable prizes, including $15 cash, to listeners. In addition to the cash prizes there will be eight sets of dishes.

These prizes will be awarded for the best collections of newspaper or magazine clippings of advertisements which mention health or health protection, such as "throat protection" by certain brands of cigarettes, antiseptic advertisements, tooth paste "ads" which stress certain preventative or curative features claimed by them.

KREG NOTES

The Happy Repairs' Orchestra, sponsored on the air by Hockaday, Harlow and Phillips is always first with the latest news. Broadcast by electrical transcription an unusual amount of entertainment is packed into the 15-minute programs. Suggestions on automobile maintenance are anything but boring, on the other hand they are most welcome by motorists who find them informative and entertaining.

Featured artists on the Sunshine Music Club program for tonight will include H. M. Hitterdell, well-known baritone. This program conducted by Mrs. Grace Dennison Schafer offers a variety of talented artists each Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

At 7:15 tonight the Six Harvest Bands will be hosts at another "open house" in the studio. Many visitors were present in the studio last Thursday when the first of a series of programs to be presented every Tuesday and Thursday night was offered.

It costs you absolutely nothing to receive a free ten-day test supply of the herbal muscle-tonic "Plapao," and to examine and have demonstrated to you privately—a scientific self-treatment, which so many others attest under oath rid them of their rupture and saved them from the knife.

FREE—PLAPAO—FREE

Stuart's Plapao-Pads are patently different from the tissue, being mechanico-chemical applicators made self-adhesive purposefully to keep the muscle tonic called "Plapao" continuously applied to the affected parts, and to minimize danger of slipping and painful friction. Fabric soft as velvet—easy to apply—Inexpensive. During 26 years thousands have successfully treated themselves at home—without hindrance from work. Awarded Gold Medal, Rome: Grand Prix, Paris and Honorable Mention, San Francisco. Process of recovery is natural, so no subsequent use for any kind of support.

BE SURE TO CALL!

Do not fail to call on Dr. James as you may not have another opportunity for some time.

JUNIOR HIGH BOYS INCLUDED IN HI-Y PLANS

Politically Speaking

BY HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Sept. 20.—(UPI)—There's no longer and room for doubt that Bert B. Meek will be a candidate for governor of California in 1934.

Meek, who was formerly state director of public works in the administration of Governor C. C. Young, has resigned his position with the Bank of America to become executive vice president of the Hearst Corporation.

As such, he will work under William Randolph Hearst, and take an active part in the management of the Hearst newspapers.

Political observers in Sacramento regarded the move as a strategic one to strengthen Meek's position politically. When he enters the arena two years from now he will in all probability have the support of Hearst newspapers and the blessings of the Bank of America.

An able executive, young, aggressive, a World war veteran, Meek is a successful business man and has a thorough knowledge of state government. He is regarded as the No. 1 possibility of the Progressive wing of the Republican party in California at the present time.

Speaker's Job

Assemblyman Walter J. Little of Santa Monica was assured of election as speaker of the assembly when that body convenes in Sacramento next January, after more than 65 of the Republican candidates signed a petition at the state convention here.

Even Robert L. Patterson of Taft, administration whip in the assembly, signed Little's petition. In the 1931 legislature, Little was defeated by Edgar C. Levey of San Francisco by the slender margin of one vote. And the bitterness that was engendered by that contest lasted throughout the entire session.

Contest?

Leo V. Youngworth is out for chairman of the Republican state central committee when it meets in Sacramento September 24, and he bombarded delegates to the state convention with telegrams to that effect.

Friends of Louis B. Mayer, Los Angeles motion picture magnate, recently circulated petitions promoting him for state chairman, as a result. There appears little doubt that Mayer will be elected. It is Southern California's turn for the position. Governor Ralph will place Mayer in nomination, and all the Republican big-wigs of the state are apparently supporting him.

Political Gossip

Independent candidates will oppose Thomas A. Maloney and James A. Miller, successful candidates for the assembly from San Francisco, at the November election.

Avery C. Moore of Berkeley was turned down when he tried to get the Democratic convention to condemn Governor Ralph's administration. . . . And the governor is still trying to figure out what Moore was "peev'd" about. . . .

A lot of appointive state officials have the "jitters" over the recent statement by Ralph that if certain appointees couldn't stop quarreling they would have to get out. . . . It's got so you can't pick a quarrel with a state official now for love nor money.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Sept. 20.—Miss Frances Bragg has resumed her third year of teaching in the elementary school at Bakersfield. She was accompanied north by her sister, Miss Myra, who will spend a week in Bakersfield.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Weber and daughter, Lois, visited Sunday with the former's brother, R. H. Weber, of Wilmington, who was spending the week end at his cottage at Laguna Beach.

GETS PATENT ON NEW TYPE TRIFOCAL LENS

Virgil E. Hancock, son of Dr. and Mrs. John Wesley Hancock of Santa Ana, has been granted a patent by the United States patent office on a new type of trifocal lens for eye glasses, according to word received here today.

The invention relates to improvements in lenses and has particular relation to an improved construction of lens in the trifocal type.

One of the primary objects of the present invention is the provision of a lens of the fused type, which will embody a plurality of foci to satisfactorily correct the vision of the wearer, and provide for clear distant vision, intermediate distant vision and near vision.

A further object of the invention is the provision of a trifocal lens which may be readily or simply formed with a minimum amount of grinding and fusing labor.

Another object of the invention is to provide a lens which will embody an upper distant vision portion, an intermediate vision portion, and a lower reading or near vision portion, so that the wearer may obtain clear vision at a distance of approximately seven or more feet through the distant vision portion, clear vision at a distance of approximately two or three feet through the intermediate vision portion, and clear reading or near vision at approximately 14 inches.

A feature of the new lens is that it will eliminate almost entirely prismatic displacement in the near vision portion, which displacement causes an apparent elevation of objects to the great annoyance and actual discomfort of the wearer of the multifocal lenses, according to the patent papers.

Virgil Hancock, well known here, where he graduated from high school, is now in New Orleans.

SANTA ANA GARDENS

SANTA ANA GARDENS, Sept. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dugger and family were recent guests in the Fred Penrod home in Talbert.

METHODISTS OF COUNTY WILL HONOR BISHOP

Approximately 500 Methodists of Orange county are expected to gather here tomorrow night at a dinner to be given in honor of Bishop James C. Baker, new resident bishop of the San Francisco area.

The dinner is being presented under auspices of the Orange County Social Union of the Methodist church and will be presided over by R. R. Lutes, president of the organization who will serve as toastmaster. The dinner will be held in First Methodist church at 6:30 p.m.

An elaborate musical program has been arranged and will feature selections by Prof. D. C. Clanton, Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, director of the choir of the First Methodist church, and the church choir.

Dr. James Allen Geissinger, San Diego district superintendent, will be one of the guests of honor and will speak. Bishop Baker will be the principal speaker.

Bishop Baker, who was sent to San Francisco last May, was elected to the Episcopacy from Wesley Foundation work in Urbana, Ill., where he had held a pastorate for 21 years. Prior to his service there Bishop Baker had spent four years in Korea.

Mrs. Baker will accompany the bishop to Santa Ana where they will be the guests of Dr. George A. Warmer, pastor of the First Methodist church, and Mrs. Warmer during their stay here. Bishop and

Mrs. Baker are expected to arrive here tomorrow afternoon and will spend the greater part of Thursday touring the county prior to their departure for San Diego.

Thursday afternoon Dr. Warmer and his wife are planning a trip to San Juan Capistrano where they will take their guests through the old mission as guests of Father St. John O'Sullivan. Other points of interest in the county also will be visited.

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, Sept. 20.—Judge A. C. Earley and family, accompanied by Mrs. Lucetta Cornwell and her sister, Mrs. Rita Thayer, who is visiting here from Louisiana, spent two days in San Diego.

Mrs. Baker will accompany the bishop to Santa Ana where they will be the guests of Dr. George A. Warmer, pastor of the First Methodist church, and Mrs. Warmer during their stay here. Bishop and Simmons, has just returned from a visit with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Byers, of Ingleswood.

Jane Doutt has returned from a trip to Catalina, where she was the guest of Miss Jean King, of Fullerton.

WORLD SERIES HITTERS

It is important for a pitcher to know the hitters in a world series, but not really vital. Pitchers generally know the hitters, but in spite of that the hitters hit.

Thus, reading a story to the effect that the Cubs are not going anywhere in the approaching world series with the Yankees for the reason that the Cubs' ex-manager, Joe McCarthy, is boss of the Yankees now and can tell his boys what the Cubs can't hit, makes me just a little bit weary.

GOMEZ INQUIRES

The other day Lefty Gomez, the Yankee ace, held a short conversation with Coach Jimmy Burke (also an ex-Cub) on the subject of the Cub batters.

"What do they hit?" asked the gony Castilian.

"Just let them have a curve outside, and then turn their caps around a couple of times with a fast ball, and they'll behave," replied Burke.

And the same might be said of the Yankee batters, the old Baltimore Orioles or what have you!

OLD HOSS WILL HIT

What the Yankees do suspect, and are about to find proven definitely is that Old Hoss Riggs Stephenson is a great hitter. He socks curves as well as fast balls. Angles do not fool him. He smacks in all directions.

Says McCarthy:

"There's a lad who is tougher than ever with two strikes on him. He is about the nerviest batter I ever saw. Stands right up there and makes it good."

Ruth offered some testimony that indicates the remarkable baseball memory of the Babe. Said he:

"He used to hit to right field when he played with Cleveland."

But that doesn't hold true now. Stevie hits to all directions and hits hard. Gomez will find a boy on his hands getting the old boy out.

HOW ABOUT GEHRIG?

The right-handed Cub pitchers are going to find both hands full when Lou Gehrig goes to the plate. Lou has a splendid record for world series performance.

The big first baseman has been in three world series and his club has been busy in each one. He led the Yankees at bat with an average of .348 in 1926 when the Cardinals beat the Yankees four games to three. In 1927 he hit .308 against the Pirates, but he was walked repeatedly, which cut down his chances to hit. His four hits in that series were all for extra bases, two triples and two doubles driving in five runs.

PRETTY FAIR SWATTING

In the 1928 series, when the Yankees wreaked fearful revenge on the Cards, Lou hit .545, his six hits including three home runs. The fact that he was at bat only 11 times in the four games also indicates that he was generally walked.

The Yankees have an advantage in this series at first base and the reason is Gehrig's bat. Grimm is four years older than Gehrig. This year Grimm has been hitting around .300 against Gehrig's .340.

Grimm did some great hitting in the 1929 world series, however, which was the only one in which he ever played. He got seven hits for his 18 times at bat, an average of .389. He has always been regarded as a great "money player," rising to heights when the pressure became heavy.

SPORTS BULLETINS

DALLAS, Sept. 20.—(INS)—Miss Mildred (Babe) Didriksen, Olympic star and Texas' one-woman track team, today was ordered by physicians to cancel all engagements and remain absolutely quiet for at least 30 days in order to avoid a possible nervous breakdown. It was revealed by her employer.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—(UP)—A breakup of the present Philadelphia Athletics' team which would involve trading Outfielder Al Simmons and Pitchers "Lefty" Grove or George Earnshaw for Pitcher Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox and other players was reported under consideration today by Connie Mack.

The trade was reported as part of a plan of owners of the Chicago team for strengthening their club as a pennant contender.

In event of a decision by Mack to trade some of his stars it was understood the Yankees were anxious to acquire Simmons.

Mack denied he had decided definitely to rebuild his team.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(INS)—"Just another ball cub."

Babe Ruth speaking and he was speaking about the Chicago Cubs.

"The Cubs will be just another team to us and we grab the first two games in New York, the thing may wind up before we leave Chicago," said Ruth today, as he prepared for the world's series.

Ruth will join the Yankees tomorrow in Philadelphia, fully recovered from his recent illness.

Will Broadcast Trojan Football Team's Workout

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20. Introducing a new feature in sports broadcasting, a practice session of the University of Southern California football squad will be given over the radio from 4 to 4:30 p. m. tomorrow. The workout will be depicted over KFAC, official broadcasting station of the university, and KFVD.

Al Wesson, director of athletic news and radio at Southern California, will be the microphone on the sidelines on Bovard field. If Coach Howard Jones holds a scrimmage during that period, a play-by-play report will be given of it.

KFAC broadcasts on 1300 kilocycles and KFVD is on 1000 kilocycles.

STEELE FACES GARCIA

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20. (UP)—Freddie Steele of Seattle, welter-weight champion of the Northwest, will make his first appearance here tonight when he fights a return engagement with Cesarino Garcia, Filipino, at Olympic auditorium.

Bob Rose was the toast of Anaheim's baseball fans today.

This carefree, phlegmatic pitcher, a surprise starter in the Southern California championship series, held Riverside helpless at Colton last night while Anaheim was rolling up the easiest kind of an 8-0 victory, giving the National League champions a 2-1 edge in their third meeting.

Anaheim won the ball game in the first inning, scoring five times off Chet Briggs, ace of the inland pitching staff.

McNabb singled, Schrott walked and Kohler singled, loading the bases. Schuchardt singled to center, scoring McNabb. Higgins fanned. Mene grounded to Mills who muffed an easy chance, letting Schrott and Kohler tally. Lemon's sharp drive to left scored Schuchardt and Mene.

The Valencias got another in the second. McNabb singled to left. Bell fouled to First Baseman Watson who caught the ball near the Riverside dugout but made a wild throw to prevent McNabb from going to second after the catch, the ball hitting the runner and caroming off into the outfield, McNabb racing all the way home.

Singles by McNabb and Bell and a pass to Kohler filled the bases in the fourth. McNabb and Bell scoring when Mills threw away Schuchardt's ground ball.

The series will be resumed at Anaheim tomorrow night.

The box score:

ROSE PITCHES SEVEN VETS AT ANAHEIM CLUB GLENDALE: NEW TO WIN. 8 TO 0 COACH HOPEFUL

(This is the fourth of a series of articles detailing football prospects and possibilities of Coast Preparatory league schools.)

Glendale HI welcomes back seven lettermen for the 1932 dynamite eleven with only fair prospects of going anywhere against the tough opposition to be offered by such schools as San Diego, Santa Ana, Alhambra and Pasadena.

A new coach takes over the reins for the '32 team. Jack Gaines, Southern California amateur golfing, tries his luck with the big Red and Black eleven. He will introduce a modified Notre Dame system in which only the backfield shifts at the count of five, not the orthodox four.

Ned Bartlett, 16-second sprinter, is expected to be the spark that will touch off dynamite in the Coast league race. Ineligible last year, Bartlett has added enough weight 'till he tips the beams at 183 pounds, and will do plenty of ball-packing from the backfield berth.

Lettermen are Sam Taylor and Bob Huntington, guards; Bob Stoner and Frank Caruso, halves; Bob Jencks, fullback; Morris Chamberlain, center, and Bob Hankey, quarter.

Gaines' big task centers about his wing and tackle. He has a wealth of material, but it must be rounded into top shape in order to get the fattest dividends.

Carleton Gilbert, reverse half last season, is looming as one of the

WORLD SERIES CLOSEUPS

Chicago bought him, but Guy Terrell ("Nig") Bush, one of the first three ranking pitchers of the Chicago Cubs, was so afraid of the much publicized sinful ways of the Windy City that he didn't report for more than six weeks.

He came shortly after a game with its gangsters, so when the offer came to go up in 1928, he failed to show up. When the Cotton States league folded up that year, he joined a team in the Kitty league under an assumed name.

However, he got in touch with the Cubs in September, tightened his belt, held his breath and joined them.

His first baptism under fire came shortly after in a game with the Giants. He was sent in in the ninth inning with the bases full, the score 8 to 1 in favor of the Giants and George Kelly, who had made three homers in succession and a triple, at bat.

No, Guy didn't pull the hero stunt. When he finally got the ball over, George smacked out a clean single.

Bush differs from other Cuban pitchers in that he is thin and frail. His 165 pounds are spread out over a frame that goes up six feet. He is a right-hander when he pitches, but bats left.

With the exception of a short time in 1924, when he was sent to Wichita Falls, Bush has been with the Cubs ever since that year. His best year was in 1929, when he won 18 and lost 7.

He had the distinction, in the world series of that year, of being the first pitcher in three years to stop the rampant American leaguers from running away with the series in successive games.

Chicago's Brown Knocked Out Pladner In First

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—(UP)—Al Brown of Panama retained his world's bantamweight title last night by knocking out Emile ("Spider") Pladner of France in the first round of their scheduled 15-round bout.

He had the distinction, in the world series of that year, of being the first pitcher in three years to stop the rampant American leaguers from running away with the series in successive games.

'Country Fair' Staged By Parents And Teachers

100 ATTRACTED TO PROGRAM AT TUSTIN SCHOOL

'Wet Parade' Given Friday In Beach City

TUSTIN, Sept. 20.—Unique in every detail was a "country fair" staged in the high school cafeteria room last night, when the teachers and parents held their annual get-together party.

Attired as a typical old fashioned country farmer, Hugh J. Plumbe announced the various dangerous events as they were put on. Miss Emma Held, John Osterman and Ralph Cole acted as judges.

A rooster fight, participated in by James H. Blee, Frank M. Griswold, Fred L. Wilson and Charles C. Brisco, was the first number on the program, and was the occasion for much laughter as were all the contests which followed in rapid succession. Mr. Blee succeeded in imitating a rooster in a fight better than his rivals, the judges decided, and he was presented a joke award.

In a women's apple eating contest, Miss Stella Yocom finished first and Miss May Rose Borum, second. Miss Yocom was awarded a red all-day sucker and Miss Borum, a red ribbon.

Miss Clara Macomber proved to be the most skillful among a group of 12 women who were asked by Mr. Plumbe to stand straight up and to drop a certain number of beans in milk bottles on the floor in front of them. A toy camel was awarded to Miss Macomber.

A "chicken race," staged by Paul Colburn, John Mennes, L. R. Stearns and Ralph Cole, brought forth peals of laughter. First and second prizes were presented to Mr. Colburn and Mr. Stearns.

In the standing broad grin contest, in which some 20 of the teachers and parents participated, with their grins measured by the judges by a ruler, it was announced that the president of the P.T.A., Mrs. Frank H. Greenwood, who, unseen, had been laughing and joking over the radio during the contest and all had been wondering who was broadcasting the laughter, had won the first prize.

In a balloon ascension race for women and men, Mrs. Ray Rungalls succeeded in blowing up her rubber balloon the largest and tying it before any of the other contestants had finished.

Mrs. Charles C. Brisco was awarded a toy automobile in another event. The second prize, an imitation electric iron, went to Miss May Rose Borum.

Preceding the contests, the 100 guests present enjoyed viewing the fair exhibits of fruit, vegetables, dogs, flowers, baked goods, jewelry, quilts and fancy work which were a take-off on a real fair.

Community singing under the direction of Mrs. Emma Rena Bouchard, was also enjoyed, and Mrs. Frank H. Greenwood gave a brief outline of the activities planned for the coming year by the P.T.A.

Refreshments of pink lemonade and cookies were served by the hospitality committee.

The committee arranging last night's fair included Mrs. Owen A. Murray, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. Plumbe, Mrs. J. W. Rice, Mrs. Clarence A. Nisson, Mrs. Frank M. Griswold and Mrs. Rena Bouchard.

Baby Bird Adopted By Beach Cat

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 20.—Mother instinct prompted a big mongrel gray cat at the Pacific Electric depot here to adopt a tiny baby bird when the old cat's yellow kitten died.

The old cat, which has been the depot cat for years, had two kittens, born last week, a black one and a yellow one. The yellow kitten died when only a few days old. Sunday Willis R. Osborn, P. E. agent, opened the depot and a tiny bird hopped into the room as the door was opened.

Osborn went about his work and the bird hopped about the depot floor. Suddenly the old gray cat appeared and like a flash pounced on the bird. The cat has always made birds her special prey and she had raced away with the baby bird before Osborn could interfere.

A few hours later the cat was nestled in her box with the bird nestled against her throat. The yellow kitten was dead and the mother cat had moved the black kitten to a large can where she had made it a new home. The bird followed the cat about the depot for day and a night and then Mrs. Vlada Vidal, Mr. Osborn's daughter, refused to trust kitty any longer with her newly adopted babe. Mrs. Vidal took the bird home where it is being kept until it recovers from its injury, or grows old enough to keep out of the way of cats.

George Kellogg, Yorba Linda chairman of the county membership committee, told the details for organization to get members. On September 22, members of the northern district of the county, with centers at Placentia, Anaheim, La Habra and Yorba Linda, are to meet at the Placentia Chamber of Commerce hall. The drive is to last from October 3 to October 8 and will be divided into three districts.

Ralph McFadden, of Placentia, reported on the last meeting of the farm bureau and told of certain tax reductions that have been obtained directly through efforts of the farm bureau, including a reduction in the 40 cent road tax and said the time is not considered ripe, yet, for forming a water district for control of waste.

Austin Marshburn, presiding at the session, appointed a nominating committee. J. J. Carter, J. E. Lewis and A. B. McDavid, and announced that Wahlberg will be speaker at the next meeting, the third Monday in October, when election will be held.

Features of the meeting were motion pictures, taken and shown and explained by John Tuftree, of Placentia, of the opening of the Olympics at Los Angeles, and of many famous places in Central and South America, and a group of numbers by the crusade octet of the Fullerton St. Andrews church choir, Gordon Drew leader.

Preceding the meeting, a hot luck dinner was served the 100 guests present.

CUT RENTAL ON H. B. AUDITORIUM

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 20.—The city council last night changed the rental fee on the municipal auditorium from $10 to $5 a night when the kitchen and its equipment is used. For all purposes not commercial and where no profit is made, the auditorium when used without the kitchen is free. For commercial purposes strictly, a rental of $25 a night will be charged. The council voted to amend the resolution adopted some time ago to provide the changes mentioned.

The municipal band will represent Huntington Beach at the Armistice Day celebration November 11 in Fullerton. The city council appropriated $175 last night to pay the expenses of the band.

The council also voted to reduce the license fee for house movers from $25 a year to $12 a year. Free use of the golf links for practice was granted the special golf team of eight women who are to represent Huntington Beach in out of town tournaments and tournaments at home. Mayor Elson G. Conrad and City Councilman J. E. Huston will represent Huntington Beach at the League of American municipalities meeting in San Diego this month. Free use of the city auditorium was granted the Business Men's association for an industrial exposition October 12, 13 and 14.

The condition of Bernice Mellott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ford Mellott of Seventeenth street, who was stricken with appendicitis last week and operated upon at the Newport Hospital Saturday was reported improved yesterday.

The Star club, sponsored by members of the Eastern Star chapter in Laguna Beach, will hold a bridge party the evening of September 28, at Masonic hall. Contract and auction bridge will be played and all players in Laguna Beach and the surrounding communities will be made welcome.

Preceding the meeting, a hot luck dinner was served the 100

guests present.

Bridge Party Is Set for Sept. 29

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 20.—Mrs. Charles A. Whittet, chairman of the program committee of the Midway City Woman's club, which this season takes up "Early California History" as a special topic, announces that Mrs. J. M. Cloys, of Santa Ana, county chairman of art and literature of women's clubs, will speak at Thursday's regular club meeting. The program opens at 2 o'clock at the Woman's clubhouse on Bolsa boulevard. All women are invited to attend.

Mrs. Whittet and her assistant on the California program, Mrs. J. A. Houlihan, attended the opening meetings given by the Ebell club of Santa Ana and the Laguna Beach Woman's club.

Several prizes will be offered.

Trust Deed Law Hit by Attorney

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 20.—Ray Overacker, city attorney urged support at the polls by the people of the proposed new state law which changes the present trust deed law. City Attorney Overacker discussed the proposed changes as the feature address of the chamber of commerce meeting at Cecile Oliver's Coffee Cup cafe.

Overacker said the present deed of trust law was too severe on borrowers and that the economic condition which is now passing had shown home owners and borrowers how they were at the mercy of the lenders. The new law makes the redemption period on a deed trust a year, the same as that on a mortgage. Lenders have become harsh and all are demanding that borrowers sign deed of trusts instead of mortgages.

J. S. Denny told the chamber members of the plans of the night school conducted by the public school system of Long Beach.

President Osborn announced his board of directors meeting for Thursday night of this week. The meeting and luncheon was well attended.

Rush Work On Legion Home In Fullerton

FULLERTON, Sept. 20.—With the work at the stage when the roof will be in place by the end of the week, and the plastering and lathing to be completed next week, work on the new Fullerton American Legion hall is speeding toward completion before November 11, when the Fullerton post members will be hosts, with the assistance of the auxiliary of the post, to the annual Orange county Armistice day parade and celebration.

The new hall is located in Hillcrest park, facing North Harvard avenue. It is to be of stucco, and to include a large meeting hall, and dining rooms and kitchen, besides lounges.

Women of the auxiliary are in charge of the kitchen and the furnishings.

Wilshire P.T.A. Members to Hear Graham Hunter

FULLERTON, Sept. 20.—With Dr. Graham C. Hunter, pastor of the Presbyterian church, as speaker on "Creative Education," the first assembly of the Wilshire Parent-Teacher association will convene at the Wilshire school at 3 p. m. Wednesday. The lecture will be at 3:30 p. m., after the business session, over which Mrs. A. C. Terrell will preside. Mrs. Earl Dyer is program chairman.

Another point of immediate interest and which was discussed was the providing of the kitchen equipment for the new American Legion hall in Hillcrest park now under construction. Women of the post plan to get it in readiness with their own efforts.

Other future plans discussed included their willingness to co-operate again this year on serving meals to children in school.

Mrs. Hunter, in outlining the future policy of the organization, drew attention to the great need of community service and solicited the co-operation of her officers in providing it.

Verna Baker, general chairman of the Armistice day affair, talked briefly to the women of the program, and said that the theme of the parade will be Olympic.

The next meeting of the auxiliary will be at the home of the outgoing president, Mrs. R. E. Black.

Official installation of new officials will be September 29 at the Huntington Beach Legion hall.

New officers are Mrs. Brewster, president; Jessie Green, vice president; Mrs. Alice Hovenier, second vice president; Mrs. Helen Ramsey, secretary; Mrs. Florence Willets, treasurer; Mrs. Ellen Nielsen, musician; Mrs. Anna Sherwood, chaplain; Mrs. Marguerite McComby, historian; Mrs. Elizabeth Askey, sergeant-at-arms; and Mrs. Rose Alexander, parliamentarian.

Members of the committees are Mrs. Sherwood, chairman and Mrs. Maifa Osborne, constitution and by-laws; Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, hospitality; Mrs. Elizabeth Askey, Vance.

CONDITION IMPROVED

COSTA MESA, Sept. 20.—The condition of Bernice Mellott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ford Mellott of Seventeenth street, who was stricken with appendicitis last week and operated upon at the Newport Hospital Saturday was reported improved yesterday.

The municipal band will represent Huntington Beach at the Armistice Day celebration November 11 in Fullerton.

The city council appropriated $175 last night to pay the expenses of the band.

The council also voted to reduce the license fee for house movers from $25 a year to $12 a year.

The condition of Bernice Mellott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ford Mellott of Seventeenth street, who was stricken with appendicitis last week and operated upon at the Newport Hospital Saturday was reported improved yesterday.

The municipal band will represent Huntington Beach at the Armistice Day celebration November 11 in Fullerton.

The city council appropriated $175 last night to pay the expenses of the band.

The council also voted to reduce the license fee for house movers from $25 a year to $12 a year.

Free use of the golf links for practice was granted the special golf team of eight women who are to represent Huntington Beach in out of town tournaments and tournaments at home. Mayor Elson G. Conrad and City Councilman J. E. Huston will represent Huntington Beach at the League of American municipalities meeting in San Diego this month.

TINY VILLAGE HE LOVED IS BRIAND HAVEN

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS

PARIS, Sept. 26.—It may be as true today, as in Caesar's time, that the good that men do oft enters with their bones, but four months' scrutiny of the private affairs of Aristide Briand has failed to uncover any sinister evil in his life that might live after him.

Briand is at home at last, his body transferred from a temporary grave here to the churchyard of Cocherel, the little village in Normandy where he found peace and rest from his political struggle for peace among men. There he was loved by the simple peasant folk and there his memory is honored with something of spiritual sentiment.

Back here in the capital mischievous tongues have just about stopped wagging. There has been found no substance to the suspicions that were whispered after the death of Briand early in March. These suggested that he had been delving into the state treasury and negotiating with foreign powers for his own gain.

He was even depicted in some quarters, which tried to tarnish his name, as a traitor, but his friends and the increasing legion of his admirers have rallied to his memory and given the lie to accusations made against him.

In his will, which was dated Sept. 1, 1931, Briand bequeathed his property in and about Cocherel to Mme. Lucie Uro-Jourdan, a friend who lives in Paris. All other property and effects, including his small Paris apartment, he left to his nephew, Charles Billau, with conditions that he should provide for his mother, Briand's sister, and his father during their lifetime.

The country place is about all of any real value left by Briand, who was a government minister for 25 years and 11 times premier. Yet the property consists of only $80 acres. Its valuation today is placed at about $1,000,000 francs, or $40,000. He did not pay much for it, but worked improvements in his spare time which increased its value.

His house cost him originally only $350.

This farm was Briand's only luxury in life. He was never seen playing about town or going to the races. His only domestic servants were his faithful valet, Emile, and an old cook. Up to the time of his death his dining room, where distinguished men from all parts of the world were glad to sit and partake of his fare, was furnished most simply and boasted of only six chairs.

If there was a seventh at table an extra chair would have to be brought in from the kitchen.

The soul of Briand, the simple citizen, went into his estate which, under American standards, would be nothing to speak about for a statesman.

Deficit Threatens

Following is the full text of the plan advanced by Senator Breed for a tax economy program:

"We are confronted with the threat of a bankrupt state government. The latest of the mounting estimates of the deficit for the next biennium is more than $40,000,000, an appalling figure.

"Many county governments likewise are headed toward financial disaster.

"We have been waiting in vain for economic recovery. The present signs of improvement indicate that progress at best will be gradual.

"Very clearly a great emergency is upon us and it is imperative that we prepare to meet it. The prices farmers are receiving for their products do not afford the encouragement to be desired.

"There is before us a prospect of tax delinquencies so widespread as to reach calamitous proportions.

Requires Drastic Steps

"Diversion of special funds to the general fund, shifting of taxes and new levies would only make matters worse. In them are involved much of selfish design and they do not reduce the tax load, as the times imperatively demand.

"Drastic retrenchment in public expenditures is the all-important step to be taken at this critical

Then Briand had perhaps the only supreme break in his private life. He was awarded the Nobel Peace prize. It was an honor, of course, but aside from that it brought the individual the equivalent of $30,000. It was wealth.

Briand paid all bills at once and had plenty left.

In Paris Briand lived since before the war and died in a little apartment that was made up of a dining room, bedroom, bath and hallway, at a rental of $400 a year. He had no servants, and if he wanted to eat there he would call the concierge to fry him an egg or two.

AUTHORITIES AND SALVATION
ARMY MAKE PLANS TO CARE FOR WINTER TRANSIENTS

Salvation Army officials, the police department and the sheriff's office now are laying plans to care for the large number of "floaters" that come through Santa Ana and Orange county during the winter months.

The number of transients on the road now in this section is already on the increase, the number cared for at the Salvation Army shelter at 818 East Third street having jumped from seven or eight a day to about 15 a day since last month.

The shelter will care for as many as 50 men a day and last year during the winter the number averaged from 30 to 35 daily. Officials expect as many or more this winter.

Last year the Army shelter gave beds to 8025 men and meals to 12,550. The men are given a night's lodging and two meals, one in the evening and one in the morning.

Register With Police

The police department still is carrying on the same program which was started last December. All transient men who desire aid are required to register at the police station where they are given a ticket for meals and lodging at the Army shelter.

Whether the program will continue in operation this winter is problematical, according to Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard, who pointed out that the Army funds are depleted.

One trouble with the plan, Chief Howard said, is that other cities that do not take care of the transients have acquired the habit of leading them to the city limits and telling them they can be accommodated in Santa Ana.

When the plan was started, notices were posted over the city and all citizens were warned not to give money or food to beggars, but to refer them to the police department where they would be taken care of. Any transient who is caught begging is booked at the police station on a charge of vagrancy.

Sheriff Logan Jackson said the department would continue to handle the situation as in past years and that the situation would be met as conditions arose which needed attention. Little trouble was encountered with the transients last year, he pointed out, and the men that are expected to drift through the county this winter will be allowed to sleep and cook their meals along the river bed as long as they do not commit crimes or infringe on the rights of others and as long as no complaints are made of their actions.

Mrs. Gus Leander
Honoree At Party

FULLERTON, Sept. 20.—Mrs. Gus Leander was honored at two events over the week end, the occasion being a celebration of her birthday anniversary. Members of the dramatic section, of Ebell club with their husbands, surprised her Saturday night, a "hard times" party being held. They presented Mrs. Leander with a lovely gift.

Attending were Mrs. J. R. Everhardt, Mrs. J. E. Wellin, Mr. Y. W. Ramsey and Mrs. J. J. Alexander, prize winners, and Mrs. Ramsey, Mr. Everhardt, Mr. Wellin and Mrs. Alexander Anderson, Mr. Adrian King, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Ames, Mr. and Mrs. R. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Sattler, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Alexander, Miss Elma Leander and Mrs. Daisy Reese.

Nineteen were entertained at dinner Sunday. All excepting Mr. and Mrs. Leander and Miss Elma Leander were from Los Angeles and Hollywood.

It is easy enough to FEEL the results of treatment on the Radionic instrument. But you would feel better from any relief, even if temporary. It is quite another matter to KNOW that the CAUSE of your sickness is no longer present in your body!—to be certain that the disease germs had been removed!

That is one of the functions of the Radionic Instrument—not only to locate and measure illness causes and destroy them, but to PROVE that they are destroyed! Isn't that an advantage?

B. & P. W. CLUB HEARS TALK BY CHEST LEADER

Setting forth some of the economic problems which face the community as winter draws near, William J. Tway, Community Chest chairman, was accorded a short period at the beginning of yesterday's meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club, to explain the aims and activities of the Community Chest, and point out to the assembled clubwomen the advisability of allying themselves with the workers for the campaign to open on October 17.

Tway explained the wisdom of grouping all the outstanding needs of the city under one heading and working for contributions to this general fund, rather than the alternative of holding separate campaigns for the raising of the money necessary to insure the success of each.

There are 10 main objectives this year, according to the speaker, and the sum of $53,000 will be asked for. According to his figures, if every salaried person in the city should give one per cent of his month's earnings, the success of the campaign would be assured.

Convention Reports

Mrs. Marie Fowler, vice president, conducted yesterday's meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Adelaide Cochran. The remainder of the luncheon program was given over to reports of the state convention in the Yosemite valley, by Miss Martha Whitson, who, with Mrs. Cochran and Mrs. Marshall Northcross Jr., represented the local club at the convention.

Miss Whitson gave a detailed account of the different business and social sessions, the enthusiasm with which clubwomen of the two state associations into the California federation of Business and Professional Women; the interesting speakers, and the courtesies shown by the Camp Curry Yosemite company. Having been a member of the state board of directors for a two year term, the Santa Ana clubwoman was further honored by election for another year and the appointment as publicity chairman.

Two guests were welcomed to yesterday's meeting, Dorothy Hall Pitman of the dance studio, by that name, and Mrs. N. F. W. Crossland of Philadelphia, a guest of the Misses Alma Karisson and Damaris Beaman.

Next Monday's luncheon in Ketner's gold room will feature a special musical program. A meeting of the board members will be held Friday noon in the Ketner.

At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Rotary club, yesterday, the constitution of the executive council of Orange County Service clubs was approved. James K. Hutchings and Frank W. Shields, directors of the club, were named as delegates and Charles J. Barnes Jr. as alternate.

Members of Chris Valente's Kids team, which won the playoff in a series of five games for the championship of the Night Baseball League, sponsored by the Rotary club, were each presented with a souvenir silver baseball, suitably engraved, this having been decided upon in place of awarding a trophy. Each player received his souvenir from the hands of Judge C. C. (Gavy) Cravath, former "king of swat" in the big leagues.

FRIDAY SANTA
POMONA FAIR

Friday, September 23, will be Santa Ana day at the combined Orange, Riverside and Los Angeles counties fair in Pomona and a gala program is being prepared in honor of the event. Sights, thrills and enjoyment will crowd rapidly upon one another from morning till midnight.

The festivities will open at 10 a.m. when all exhibits and stables will be open for inspection. The morning hours will be given over to a general sightseeing tour in the great agricultural building with its collection of practically every fruit and vegetable grown in the civilized world and the elaborate feature exhibits entered by the various counties, cities and organizations. From the agricultural building the throngs will be directed to the great poultry, rabbit and pigeon exhibits with their record breaking number of entries.

A visit to the premier livestock show with its hundreds of head of prize animals from all parts of the country will be another feature of the morning.

The beautiful great steel and concrete grandstand will be thrown open at 1 o'clock and will contain some of the feature races of the week in both the harness and running divisions. There are more than 500 race horses taking part.

For those not attending the races there is the great women's exhibit with its $30 classifications, the school exhibits, harmonica band, concertos other entertaining features too numerous to mention.

The evening is filled with interest. On this particular night there will be a horse show before the great new grandstand. Throughout the program there will be colorful entertainment features. Many reunions and other gatherings are planned for the day.

The program tomorrow includes a racing program at 1:30 p. m. and the horse show at 7:30 p. m.

the prescribed 10 ends. In the extra end, Bothamley, lead off man, put two bowls on the jack that could not be displaced and the game was won at the close of the day.

Eight pairs entered for the championship round. A large gallery watched the final match, which was even up at the close of the game was won by that margin.

Interest and redemption on these bonds was over three times as large in 1931 as it was in 1921. Total payments for interest and redemption in 1931 amounted to $297,139,975, while at the close of 1921 county and district bonds outstanding amounted to $117,197,908.

Interest and redemption on these bonds was over three times as large in 1931 as it was in 1921. Total payments for interest and redemption in 1931 being $29,414,596.

The grand prize of a quilt will be awarded on November 10, to the one holding high score for the series.

WORLD WAR VET HERE
TO SEE MOTHER FOR FIRST TIME SINCE ENLISTMENT

Harry E. Kessler, veteran of the World war, is a happy man today.

Since the day he enlisted in the navy at Philadelphia in 1917 when his mother signed the papers allowing him to enlist although he was not of age, Kessler has been unable to find his mother, and in all those years has not seen her.

But now he has found her and she is on her way here from Philadelphia to greet her son whom she has not seen for 15 years, since the time she bade him farewell when he sailed to sea on transport duty, carrying soldiers to France from the United States.

Without success, Kessler tried to locate his mother, Mrs. Lillian Courtwright. She thought her boy might have been killed in the war, until he located her working as a nurse in Philadelphia. Kessler was discharged in New Orleans after the war had ended.

The mother's fears might have been well grounded for the safety of her son, for he had many narrow escapes in battles with submarines while serving on transport duty.

Now, although ill, the mother is on her way to Santa Ana to be reunited with her son for the remainder of her days, and Kessler awaits with eager anticipation the first sight of his mother in 15 years.

Kessler has lived in Santa Ana for the past six years and is connected with the Orange County Welfare department and with the city police as a special officer.

Cromwells Honor Guests
At Final Tea Before
Departure East

Concluding a succession of courtesies which has extended over the four weeks' period of Mrs. G. N. Cromwell's stay in Santa Ana was a final hospitality tendered Mrs. Cromwell and her daughter, Miss Lois Cromwell, just prior to their return to Chicago this week end. The affair, taking the form of a tea, was given by Mrs. Cromwell's sister-in-law, Mrs. O. F. Jones, in the latter's residence, 1309 South Birch street.

A gay variety of aspers and zinnias decked home and tea table, and from the latter guests were served a light menu of tea and tea cookies and mints.

Receiving with Mrs. Jones and assisting her in various hospitable ways were another sister-in-law, Mrs. J. B. Smith of this city, with whom the Chicago folk have been making their headquarters during their sojourn here, and Mrs. James Richards.

Taking formal leave of the Chicagoans at the tea were Mesdames J. B. Smith, James Richards, E. N. Pierce, Muriel Mason, Lawrence Coffman, Roscoe Moore, George Holmes, C. F. Martin, M. D. Haskell, M. L. Sherwood, J. J. Kelley, Charles Hoff, Miss Irene Cravath and Miss Mary Armstrong, besides the hostess, Mrs. O. F. Jones, and her charming young daughter, Jeannette.

WOMEN - SOCIETY - THE HOME

WEDDINGS
FASHIONS
HOUSEHOLDSecond Travel Group
Launches Autumn Activities

Deriving the warmest pleasure from renewing their associations after a summer's interval, the women of the Second Travel section of Ebell accepted the hospitality of Mrs. Theo. A. Winbigler yesterday at a 12:30 o'clock luncheon given in her home at 207 East Ninth street. Assisting Mrs. Winbigler in hostess capacities were Mrs. Mitt Phillips and Mrs. C. E. French.

A lively account of her summer at Forest Home, generously illustrated with pictures and snapshots taken on numerous of the trips described, was presented by Mrs. William G. Knox, a new member of the section, whose talk proved especially pleasing. Her description was enjoyed after the women had abandoned the luncheon tables, artistic with their appointments of pink roses and fern.

While the section is accustomed to devote its first assembly of fall to summer reminiscences, this period was preceded by a group of vocal numbers sung by Harland Whittington, accompanied by Mrs. Jay C. Hamill.

Members responded to roll call with current events, after which plan for a year of South Sea Island study were considered.

Two new members joined the section at its opening meeting yesterday, these being Mrs. William G. Knox and Mrs. J. Frank Burke, while guests of the group were Mrs. Paul Bailey, Ebell president; Mrs. C. W. Druitt and Mrs. Arthur Lyon.

Members enjoying yesterday's reunion were Mesdames W. W. Anderson, John Backus, Zitelli Bacon, J. Frank Burke, Minnie Collins, C. F. Crose, G. W. Canter, Minnie Fields, C. P. Johnson, J. J. Harrington, Jay C. Hamill, William G. Knox, J. R. Medlock, George Reburn, J. R. Thompson, J. H. Walker, M. C. Williams and the hostesses, Mesdames Winbigler, French and Phillips.

Miss Margaret Paterson
Hostess at Al Fresco Supper Hospitality

An al fresco supper about an open fire in the patio to the rear of the Frank H. Paterson home at 2415 Helioptrope drive opened informally a party given by Miss Margaret Paterson Saturday evening.

Supper concluded, guests enjoyed a pleasant, conversational interlude about the fire before entering the home to find tables placed for bridge. Prizes provided for first and second scorers, were claimed after an evening of play by Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hayes, whose tables topped all others, and by Miss Lolita Mead and William Witherspoon, their closest contestants.

Female members of the party comprised the personnel of a bridge club, and included Mesdames Gene Hayes, Russell Wilson, Fred C. Rowland, Edmund C. West and Robert S. Wade; the Misses Boyd Joplin, Nan Mead, Lolita Mead, Margaret Gebe and the hostess, Miss Margaret Paterson. Present as guests were Dr. Robert S. Wade, Messrs. Gene Hayes, Russell Wilson, Fred C. Rowland, Edmund C. West, Ben Fletcher and Lloyd Shearer, all of Santa Ana; Messrs. Victor Rees and William Witherspoon of Los Angeles and Dr. Don Bayne of Long Beach.

THE TINYMATES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN - PICTURES BY KING

The airplane bird swooped here and there and had real fun up in the air. Brave Windy wasn't frightened 'cause he'd often flown around.

Thought he, I'll let out quite whoop if this bird starts to loop-the-loop. I love that sort of stunt, if we stay high up off the ground.

It seemed the bird read Windy's mind. It promptly started out to find a real nice place to pull some stunts. Up, up, up the strange bird rose.

And then it looped the loop real fast. As little white clouds whizzed right past, wee Windy shouted, "What fun! I'm surely feeling fit!"

Just then they saw a funny sight. The Tinies ran with all their might to meet some tiny elephants, hitched to a little cart.

Cried Copy, "Goodness me, they're small! What is that they are trying to haul? They're working hard. Let's help them, or the beasts may fall apart."

And so the Tinies lent a hand. The zoo man said, "Please understand we're heading for the monkey place and taking peanuts there."

"The one big bag is quite enough to make the small beasts pant and puff. You lads can have some peanuts if the monkeys do not care."

BONERS

Bonny Dundee was a man who was supposed to have ridden a black horse up steep slopes.

BONERS are actual humorous tid-bits found in examination papers, essays, etc., by teachers.

Julius Caesar fell in love and invented bankruptcy.

Defoe who wrote Robinson Crusoe was really a journalist, but he knew how to write.

Shakespeare's words are sometimes very hard to understand, but he generally means what he says.

He gave his crest to be put on the baby my mother.

How FAST CAN WE FLY?

Unless some new and unusual type of wing is invented, 600 miles an hour will be the limit of speed in the air

HOW fast can we fly? Is it possible for airplanes to travel at speeds of seven and eight hundred miles an hour? Will we board the air liner of the future in New York and be in San Francisco in a little more than one hour, or in London in three hours?

Probably not, and at least not for many years to come, is the answer of Dr. George W. Lewis, director of aeronautical research of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, a government organization devoted to determining new and basic facts about the science of flight.

"It has been found that there is a definite limitation on what we may expect from airplanes as they are now constructed, and the fastest planes now built are rapidly approaching this limit of speed beyond which they cannot go," says Dr. Lewis.

"Furthermore we don't yet know whether the human body is strong enough to stand being hurled through the air in the cabin of the fast airplane of the future at a speed of more than 600 miles an hour.

"No matter how fast our airplanes can fly, it is useless to develop them past a degree in which they can carry human cargo. But as yet no man has traveled through the stratosphere at six or eight hundred miles an hour, so any answer to this question must be based on theory,

WE do know that the human body is quite rugged in the air, because a parachute jumper may fall thousands of feet and attain a great speed without losing consciousness.

"However, as long as the passenger of the airplane is enclosed in an airtight cabin, the pressure of which is maintained at approximately the same degree as the pressure man is accustomed to on the earth, there is no reason to believe that the altitude or the speed would bother him as long as the plane flew straight."

How the human body would react if a sharp corner were turned at a speed of more than 600 miles an hour is another question. There would be a tremendous pressure placed on the passengers and it might render them unconscious, in the opinion of Dr. Lewis.

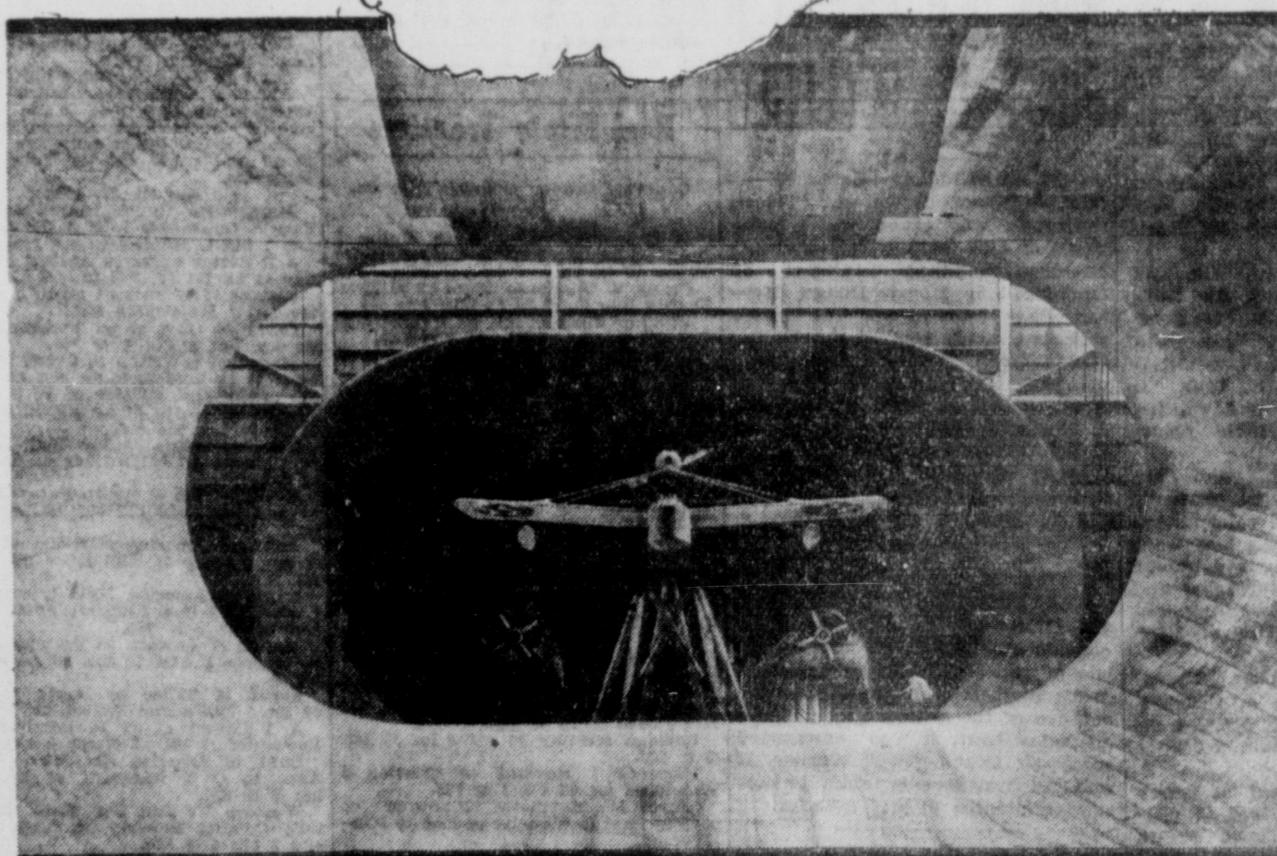

As to the possibility of developing high-speed airplanes capable of racing through the stratosphere at tremendous rates of speed, Dr. Lewis has this comment:

"Ten years ago B. G. Mitchell startled the world by flying at a speed of 222.84 miles per hour at Detroit. Last September Flight Lieutenant G. H. Stainforth of the Royal Flying Corps hurled his Vickers Rolls-Royce Supermarine Racer over the Schneider course at Calshot, England, at the tremendous speed of 406.6 miles an hour, an increase in speed of nearly 200 miles an hour over the 1922 record.

"What is to prevent our engineers from adding two or three hundred miles to the speed of an airplane in the next 10 years as they have in the past?

EXHAUSTIVE research into aeronautics has determined that the airplane of the present day may never hope to go much over 600 miles an hour. At that speed the resistance of the air against the plane becomes so great that it would be physically impossible to obtain an engine giving enough added horsepower to pull the plane through the air at a greater speed.

"Of course we are talking of the present-day airplane when we say this, of a plane built along the 'bird-like' design. No one knows what the airplane of the future will resemble, but some

Where airplanes are tested to see how they will perform at high speeds. . . . A glimpse into the huge wind tunnel operated by the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics at Langley Field, Va., where an airstream 60 feet wide and 30 feet high can be hurled at 112 miles an hour at a plane suspended on delicate balances.

tendencies have been noted that may be of interest."

Therefore, since the tremendous resistance of the air will make it impossible for us to fly more than 600 miles an hour in the conventional airplane of today, it follows, Dr. Lewis says, that we must depart from this design to reach greater speeds; and as the speed increases the design of the airplane will more nearly approach the appearance of a projectile, with the engines totally enclosed, with smaller wings and no auxiliary parts, such as the landing gear, extending from the structure.

It is known that we do not need as large wings and as large control surfaces on airplanes as we now have in order to fly the plane successfully. We need them only to land and to take off. American manufacturers have been able to cut down on the resistance of the air to an airplane in flight by retracting the landing gear, that is, pulling it up into the fuselage when the plane is in flight.

IN France, M. Durmon, chief pilot of one of the big manufacturing companies, has recently test flown a Makhonine airplane equipped with a variable wing which "retracts." That is, a considerable section of the wing is drawn into the plane itself, thus cutting down on the resistance. A German, Professor Werner Schmeidler of Breslau, has also carried out experiments in this same field.

Professor Piccard at Augsburg, Germany, the air is of course still thinner and the possibility of speeding projectile-like planes through this is unknown and almost unlimited."

People who are looking forward to rapid air travel, however, do not need to worry even if no plane that can go faster than 600 miles an hour ever is devised. That speed, if made available to regular commercial planes, would make all present speeds look very slow.

Planes traveling at that speed could fly from Chicago to London in six and one-half hours; from New York to Paris in almost exactly six hours; from New Orleans to Manila in 14½ hours, and from San Francisco to Shanghai in 10 hours and 15 minutes.

In this connection it is interesting to note that the famous Farman brothers of France are now experimenting with a plane designed to cruise at an altitude of 60,000 feet or more.

This plane has an extraordinarily large wingspread, and appears somewhat sluggish in the lower altitudes; but the Farmans believe that its great lifting surface will permit it to fly far above the earth where the air is too thin to support an ordinary plane, and that its speed will increase with higher altitudes. They expect it to do at least 500 miles an hour at a 60,000-foot altitude.

THE cockpit, of course, at such an altitude would be enclosed, with special devices to maintain normal air pressure and temperature for the pilot.

"We must remember," says Dr. Lewis, "that the resistance of the air which limits the speed at which an airplane may fly varies directly with the density of the air. This fact offers the possibility of obtaining higher speeds at greater altitudes. At 18,000 feet the density of the air is approximately one-half the density at sea level, and thus a plane could cruise at a much greater speed."

"Above 40,000 feet, in the stratosphere recently explored by Professor Piccard at Augsburg, Germany, the air is of course still thinner and the possibility of speeding projectile-like planes through this is unknown and almost unlimited."

People who are looking forward to rapid air travel, however, do not need to worry even if no plane that can go faster than 600 miles an hour ever is devised. That speed, if made available to regular commercial planes, would make all present speeds look very slow.

Planes traveling at that speed could fly from Chicago to London in six and one-half hours; from New York to Paris in almost exactly six hours; from New Orleans to Manila in 14½ hours, and from San Francisco to Shanghai in 10 hours and 15 minutes.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES HELD P.T. A. PLANS IN ELEMENTARY FOR BUSY YEAR SCHOOLS TODAY

ANAHEIM, Sept. 20.—Programs for the entire year for the High School P.T. A. have been outlined and were announced this morning by the executive board.

On September 27 a tea will be given for the mothers of the new students and freshmen and will be held in the Girl's League room.

The affair will be at 3:15 o'clock and the topic for the day will be "Helping the Freshman to Find His Place in the School World."

J. A. Claxes, principal, will talk on "The Curriculum" and Frank Kellogg will talk on "Helping the Student to Find Himself."

In October there will be a reception for parents and teachers at 7:30 o'clock. A musical program will be featured on the entertainment. The November meeting will be Father's Night and will be a pot luck supper before the regular business meeting and program that will be on "The Relation of the High School Student to His Environment."

No meeting will be held in December. In January the meeting will be an afternoon tea in the Girl's League room with the mothers of the sophomores and the juniors being the honored guests. The program will be "The Health Problems of the teen Age."

Mothers of the seniors will be honored in March with an afternoon tea and the program will be "Training in Home-Making." A demonstration will be given by the Home Economics department.

The April meeting will be Father and Son night with the fathers of the senior boys the honored guests. The topic for the program will be "The Need of Spiritual Training in the Modern World."

The May meeting that is also the last meeting, will take up the problem of "Today's Problem of Leisure Time." There will also be installation of officers.

20-30 CLUB MEETS ON MONDAY NIGHT

ANAHEIM, Sept. 20.—Dispensing with a speaker and formal program the 20-30 club members met last evening for the regular dinner meeting in the Knights of Pythias hall and enjoyed group singing and the several numbers played by Cieland Harbaugh, pianist, Jack Larson, cornet player, and George Simpson, saxophone player.

There was a short business session. Guests introduced were Dr. William Stebly, Ed Bushman and Cieland Harbaugh.

MITCHELL SPEAKS AT ROTARY MEET

ANAHEIM, Sept. 20.—Opposing the passing of the constitutional amendment that would cost the taxpayers in the state $10,000,000 annually if the transferring of the school taxes was changed from real property to a sales or income tax with the state to apportion the funds, R. P. Mitchell, for 22 years superintendent of the county schools system, spoke at the Rotarian club luncheon yesterday at Compton. Free parking is provided.

Besides talking on the school system Mitchell referred to the orange industry stating that one of the fundamental troubles with the citrus industry was the lack of knowledge of the selling end. He further stated that retail prices in the east justify a higher price from the growers.

MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY, Sept. 20.—The Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Woodson mortified to Colton Tuesday, taking to their home their daughter, Mrs. Bishop Galloway and son and daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilson attended on Wednesday in Santa Ana the funeral of Harry Van Gorham, 22-year-old nephew of Mr. Wilson, whose death came Monday night following an illness of three months.

Mrs. Robert Hazard, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Brentlinger and Miss Robina Brentlinger, who were expected to return home this week, changed their plans on account of business calling them back to Arkansas when they had reached Wichita, Kans., on their return home.

Mrs. C. C. Fulton, who has taught the past several years in the Garden Grove elementary school, began her duties last week as teacher of second grade pupils.

Frances Hall, Alfred Wasser and Charles Schmidt have entered Huntington Beach Union High school.

Charles Bickmore left Thursday in company with J. O. Pyle, of Smetzler, and Emil Kettler, of Springfield, for Idyllwild to hunt deer.

Entertaining a friend of many years standing, Mrs. Kate C. Miller, of Pine, Ariz., Mrs. Frank Skinner has carried out many pleasant plans during the week for her guest's entertainment.

Mrs. Miller arrived Sunday from Los Angeles accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Chloe Heath, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cordey, who were guests in the Skinner home for a social evening.

Mrs. Flagg and son, Carl Fernlund, of South Bend, Ind., accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilson, and their house guests, the Misses Cote, took a drive into the mountains this week. Following the return of the party to Midway City, Mrs. Flagg and Mr. Fernlund remained as dinner guests in the Wilson home and for a social evening.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Woodson attended the district mission meeting of the Nazarene denomination in Los Angeles.

Miss Ellen Gibbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Gibbs, has moved to Fullerton where she will again teach in the elementary school system.

Miss Ella Mary Parks of West Center street has moved to Fullerton for the school term. She is teaching biology in the Fullerton union high school.

ANAHEIM PERSONALS

ANAHEIM, Sept. 20.—Harry Jayne, employed by the city, has returned to Anaheim following a vacation spent out of town.

Miss Jessie Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Johnston, of South Los Angeles street is spending several days in Los Angeles.

Miss Ellen Gibbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Gibbs, has moved to Fullerton where she will again teach in the elementary school system.

Miss Ella Mary Parks of West Center street has moved to Fullerton for the school term. She is teaching biology in the Fullerton union high school.

the youngest regular on either team. Three members of each infield have had world series experience. Of the Yankees, Gehrig and Lazzeri have played in three. Joe Sewell has been in one. Of the Cubs, Koenig, teamed with Gehrig and Lazzeri in three when he was with the Yankees, and Charlie Grimm and "Woody" English played in the 1922 series against the Athletics.

Bill Herman, Cubs' second baseman, and Frank Crosetti, Yankees' shortstop, the kids of their respective teams are playing their first full year on the majors and have never seen a world series much less played in one.

Cubs Best On Defense

Defensively, the Cubs seem to have a wide margin on the Yankees. The Yanks have made only 117 twin killings, the smallest number registered by any team in either league. The Cubs have made 137.

Enrollment by schools is as follows: La Palma, 167; Citron, 233; Horace Mann, 158; George Washington, 254; Lincoln, 186; Broadway, 188; and Fremont, 456.

Figures of last year show the registration for the year at La Palma, 159; Citron, 216; Horace Mann, 161; George Washington, 255; Lincoln, 196; Broadway, 202; and Fremont, 438.

With the increase that is expected by the end of the week Gauer is confident that all previous school records will be broken. Last year by the end of the first week there were 1752 students enrolled in the six schools. In 1930 there were 1621 students.

Herman, for all his youth, may prove an even more valuable man to the Cubs than Lazzeri, for all his experience, to the Yankees in the series. Herman has been one of the Cubs' leading batters and has been a steady fielder.

Grimm has made a great comeback after being rescued from the minors last month. Crosetti is a weak hitter and a brilliant but erratic fielder.

English is a more reliable and valuable player than Sewell.

The two reserve shortstops are Bill Judges, Bubs, and Lyn Lary, Yankees.

outstanding backs for his all-around ability of passing, kicking, half-packing and interference work.

With no experienced men at ends and tackles, Gaines immediately set to work at the start of school to plug up these weaknesses.

Forrest Smith, transfer from Los Angeles HI, has the inside track to the quarter job inasmuch as Hankey probably will be sent to half. Dick Reed, a "B" last year, will fit into that backfield foursome due to his generalship and slippery field running.

From a passing glance at Gaines' material, Glendale's problem is the line, rather than the backfield. Plenty of reserve backfield strength will be on hand, but the forwards are a deep, dark mystery.

THE new Long Beach Motorcycle stadium, dedicated last Tuesday, is scheduled to be packed to capacity of 6,000 tonight with the world champion "Sprouts" Elder on deck to thrill the fans.

The new speedway is reputed to be the fastest and best equipped track in California. The program starts at 8:15. The stadium is located on the main highway, Long Beach boulevard, a few miles west of Compton. Free parking is provided.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 20.—(INS)—Ed Ransom, slated for considerable work this season on one of the end positions on Stanford's football team, is out for the balance of the season with a broken collar bone. It was announced today by Coach "Pop" Warner, that he was the first serious injury to vary his candidates during practice.

STATE OFFICE OPPOSES CUTS IN EDUCATION

SACRAMENTO—Shall California in the interest of economy, abolish the education of adults?

An emphatic "no" seems to be the consensus of opinion in the state department of education, despite the fact that a number of school boards in the state have taken such a step.

California has made such remarkable progress in the field of adult education that it has become a full division in the state department of education, taking it as a place as a separate project in education beside elementary and secondary education.

In fact, the number of adults attending special day and evening classes in California is in the neighborhood of 300,000, or more than the total of all high school pupils attending school daily.

Orange county has a total enrollment of 5011 pupils in these part-time classes, a recent study by the state board of education has disclosed.

Adult educational work, according to Sam H. Cohn, deputy state superintendent of public instruction, may be divided into three classes. These are: Immigrants who desire to learn about their government in order to become citizens; workmen who desire better their situation by learning new trades or improving their present occupations; and adults who attend night school as a mental stimulus, who wish to learn French or study the drama for its cultural value.

PEOPLE RELIABLE IN CRIMES

The patience and orderliness of the people of our country in the midst of the distress through which we have been passing is one of the marvels which social workers and economists have repeatedly referred to in their discussions. Last year at this time harmony was the prevailing note in almost every community throughout the country. Even now there is an exhibition of self-restraint and dependence upon orderly processes of government and rehabilitation that is little short of astounding. But still there is not that degree of complacency that was exhibited one year ago.

Today we have the striking farmers of the middle west growing in numbers, in determination, and unfortunately in violence. We have cities of Illinois in the coal districts under martial law, controlled by companies of the National Guard. We have the coal districts of Virginia, Ohio, and Tennessee in the throes of violence, and we have the textile industries in certain cities in battle array. Fortunately the difficulty which seemed to confront the railroads with the determination of the operators on reduction and the determination of the unions to resist has given way to the proposal of a "get-together" outside of the Adamson law which we hope will result in freedom from difficulty in that direction.

Just as we are getting reports from the government of slight rises in commodity prices and particularly in some farm products, slight though they be, it is to be hoped that the wonderful patience which our people have exhibited will continue a little longer as the better grip on affairs seems to insure such a hold as will spell returning business. In any case the great numbers in our democracy have evidenced a confidence and control that is worthy of the highest commendation.

MAYOR M'KEE "SWEETS CLEAN"

Our hats are off to Mayor Joseph B. McKee, mayor of New York City. He has already cut expenses of the city government by millions of money and has thrown Tammany Hall into a panic. Now he comes out and denies the license of certain burlesque companies to exhibit in the city at the earnest request of many people.

Mayor McKee protests that he is not a reformer; he is simply carrying out his duty at the solicitation of those people interested. He doesn't even pretend to be a censor. But in the position which he has taken upon these two important matters he undoubtedly will have the support of the taxpayers of New York City and of the rank and file of business and clear-thinking people and probably the support of those ecclesiastical leaders who have great influence with the New York election for the protection which he evidently proposes to give the city from the exhibition of dirty shows.

While this by no means insures him of the nomination for mayor and certainly not the support of Tammany Hall, yet it is making Tammany's part in the program, if she opposes him, exceedingly difficult and if she supports him it closes up some of the sources of graft. In the meantime the mayor is getting the publicity, encomiums from independent elements, and the Tiger is having a spasm.

In placing the ban on the risque shows, Mayor McKee said:

New York City has no place for the fifth these theaters are purveying. They created immorality. They had a bad influence. And they lessened property values in the section, a matter which is of less importance than the issue of morality.

"BIG THREE" AGREE ON REARMAMENT

Now it appears that the "big three"—Great Britain, France and the United States—have agreed as touching Germany's proposition that she shall be permitted to arm in proportion with the other major nations of Europe. The "big three" are opposed to it. While they have never been able to agree upon how to disarm, they have no hesitancy in agreeing that there shall be no re-arming by any nation.

Since Germany has been reduced in armament by the treaty of Versailles, by taking the plausible position of opposition to "re-armament" these three nations hope to present a defensible position against Germany's claim. We do not see how they can succeed. The language of the treaty and of a certain section of the League of Nations compact and the specific letter which Clemenceau wrote under the direction of the other powers binds the nation certainly by moral bonds to either meet Germany in her disarmament program or to permit her by reason of their failure to keep their contract to place herself in the position which she was induced to leave by the false promises.

HOW COULD DEBTS BE COLLECTED?

Norman Thomas pointed out some pertinent matters in relation to Candidate Roosevelt's program, which are most timely. After referring to the vagueness in expression on matters concerning the war debt, the banking system, agriculture, unemployment, public utilities and Tammany Hall, Mr. Thomas says that Roosevelt is opposed to cancellation of debts, without giving us any idea of how to collect them.

Ah! there's the rub! All of us would be for the collection of the debts if it could be done. If we can't get them paid we are going to be in worse shape in our attempts to collect them than we would be if we didn't urge it. Where is the gain? We would like to have Mr. Hearst, Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Johnson or anyone else who claims to believe in the collection of the debts to advise us how they can be collected.

DR. BUTLER CALLS SPADE A SPADE

Dr. Nichols Murray Butler, of Columbia University comes out with a plan for state control of the liquor traffic. He urges the Quebec system, a regulatory measure, as his model. Without going into the discussion of that at this moment, consider the frank words that Dr. Butler uses in respect to the saloon. He says: "It is idle to talk of a Federal guarantee against the return of the saloon. The operation of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act have surely made that plain."

The absurd suggestion that the liquor traffic should be permitted to return with the evils of the liquor traffic eliminated from it cannot have force with thinking men and women, who have studied the question. Those who are uninformed or who are not clear in their thinking or desire to have some excuse for being against the 18th Amendment may be affected thereby, but not others.

Farming By Electricity

The Oakland Tribune

Seven New Hampshire farms have served for the past seven years as experiment stations in the use of electricity in agriculture. That is to say, the results of the use of electricity by seven enterprising New Hampshire farmers have been recorded and studied by the New Hampshire agriculture experiment station in cooperation with the national and New England committees on the relation of electricity to the farm. A report of progress was made when the experiment was two years old. Now comes another.

Two principal questions presented themselves at the outset of the experiment: Would electricity be practical power on a farm? And could economic volume of use be built up sufficiently to support the required investment? Experience, we are told, has answered both questions in the affirmative. Another question of unusual interest at the present time is answered in the statement that "signs of financial depression were hard to discover in the current consumption. These farms were affected, but apparently the effects were not transmitted to the electric usage."

Among the conclusions reached in the present report is the finding that the farm electric load tends normally to increase, and the increased volume of use has in most cases made the users eligible for lower rates. It is significant in that connection that while the limits of the use of electricity in the farm home are easily discernible, the development of electric power in farm operation is considered as being only well started.

Such are some of the conclusions set forth in a report devoted to facts and figures. Back of them are aspects of the case not capable of reduction to statistical form. There is the effect upon health and happiness of country folk as they have placed at their command facilities for convenience and comfort which are available in the towns and cities. The electric lights that gleam from farm house windows, the electric pump that is the twentieth-century success of the old oaken bucket that hung in the well, the electrified kitchen and the electrified dairy, the many farm appliances moved by electric motor, mean a new order down on the farm. It is gratifying to be told that this New Hampshire experiment shows it to be a practical departure.—The Boston Evening Transcript.

How European Cities Keep Streets Clean

The Riverside Enterprise

"One of the reasons the streets of Vienna are clean is that throwing litter on a street is punished by an immediate fine," writes an American traveler. He tells of a fellow-American who did not know of this strange custom and so discarded the fragments of a torn envelope as casually as he would have done in his native city of New York or Oshkosh, U. S. A.

He was soon tapped on the shoulder by a policeman who collected the cash fine then and there. The American was given a receipt for the amount he had paid. It did not interest him much and, being strong, he absent-mindedly tossed it to one side. The eagle-eyed cop was right on the job and stepped up to collect another fine for this second infraction of the rule.

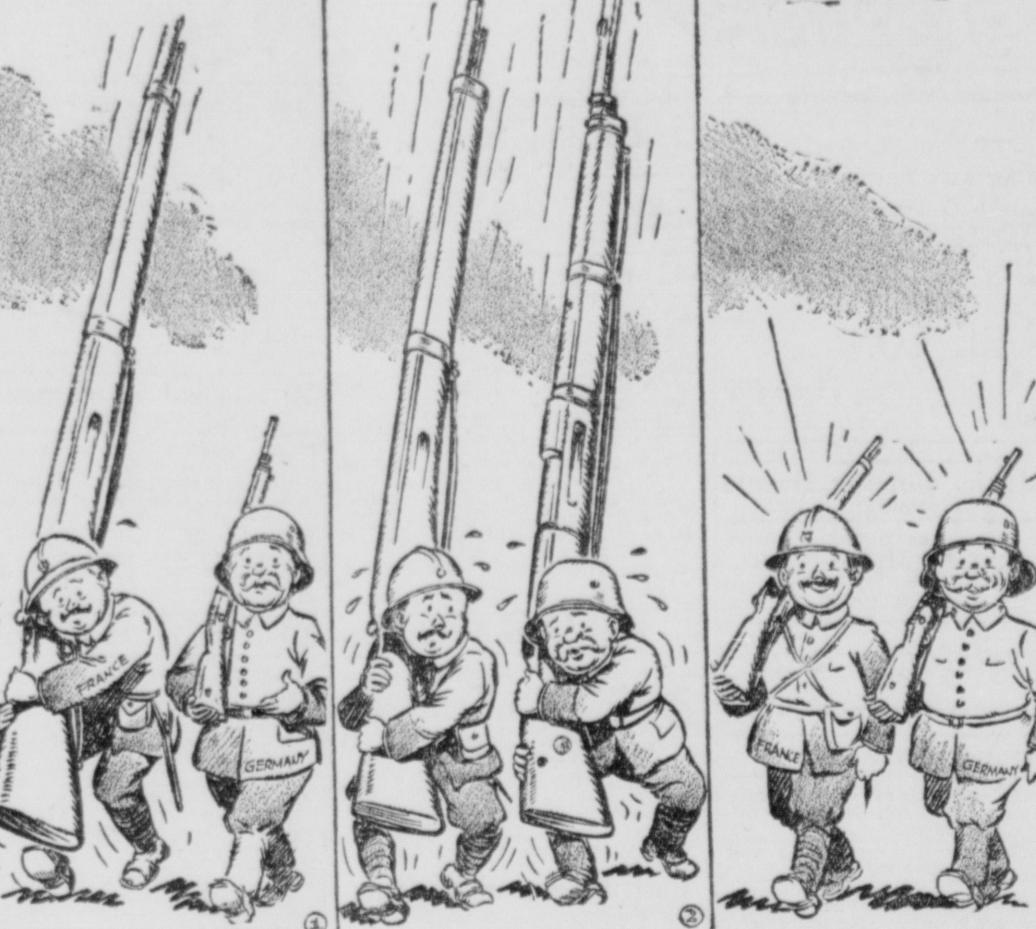

Most annoying of course. But the result, according to report, is clean streets. Doubtless American policemen are too busy struggling with ordinary traffic problems to take up this additional duty of collecting fines for tossing refuse about. However, one cannot help wishing that some simple, immediate and effective means could be devised for teaching Americans not to throw around papers, matches, cigarette and candy wrappers, cigar and cigarette butts, empty boxes and other rubbish with such lavish hands. Many a city of fine buildings and lovely homes is made ugly by this American bad habit.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

HAPPY DAYS ARE HERE

I used to get but little mail
Outside the monthly bills;
The postman's daily trip would fail
To bring me any thrills.
He frequently would pass me by,
And, as he hurried hence,
I'd sigh a somewhat bitter sigh
At my inconstancy.

But life no longer wears a tone
Of dull and somber gray;
From men whose names I long have known
Come letters every day.
Though much alike they always read,
It fills my heart with cheer
To find that noted statesmen need
My valued vote this year.

Time was when influential men
Would pass me on the street,
And never seem to see me when
Our eyes would chance to meet.
And, if I murmured, "How d'ye do?"
And speak to them by name,
Their look would answer, "Who are you,
And what's YOUR little game?"

But now these persons bow to me
And stop to chat a bit,
Averring that they're glad to see
I look so well and fit.
My life's become a glad sweet song,
I'm marching in the van,
For, when election comes along
I'm an important man!

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

FIVE BAD ROADS TO RICHES

The sixteen major methods by which, according to Stuart Chase in his new book called "A New Deal," men seek to make money under our existing economic arrangements may, as he sees it, be boiled down to five basic patterns:

(1) The uneconomic restriction of output.

There is little in any one of them to stir the spirit of the man who would like to feel that his business career is making a contribution to society, not simply levying tribute upon it.

(2) The distorting of genuine markets.

Genuine markets are distorted through the forced selling of useless and even harmful commodities, securities, gadgets, fads, forms of recreation, and so on.

(3) Gambling in prime economic essentials.

The value of prime economic essentials—such as land, raw materials, and securities—is distorted, their irresponsible development pushed, or their restriction unintelligently effected by gambling in them.

(4) Economic parasitism.

Racketeering may appear in myriad forms, some within and some without the law, ranging from the crude racketeering of the gangster to graft in politics, graft in business, and the establishment of blood-sucker industries in low wage areas.

(5) Needless duplication of plant and production facilities.

Needless duplication of production facilities is one of the bad by-products of an almost anarchic individualism. A single in-cess. Most of the children who have always found it necessary to count and measure. Self-interest has made arithmetic important in the education of mankind. Since the days when the sheep and the goats had to be counted, the cattle on a thousand hills numbered, children have had to learn arithmetic. Fathers and mothers always ask first thing "What did you get in arithmetic?"

Some children have a great deal of trouble with that ancient subject. Most of the pupils in a class master their tables with little difficulty. Only the most deficient ones balk at tables. They are rhythmic and ask only for repetition to become a part of the child's mental equipment. The trouble starts when a child is confronted with a problem. "A man had,"

That makes me feel less like a jelly fish, in fact practically like a king, pop said. And like a king I will reward you. You have it to express a wish and it shall be granted, he said.

Willyum, how lovely, you're saying that in the nick of time, ma said. I couldn't think of more appropriate remark at the present moment, because just as it happens I was thinking of asking you to take me to see Lovey Darling's new picture at the Mawsooleum, although I know you have a strong feeling against Lovey Darling, but anyway now you've promised, she said.

Well it's true, Willyum, you're really younger and better looking than way, ma said.

You can't mean handsome? pop said, and ma said, Well, almost, or at least within a hare's breath of it.

That makes me feel less like a jelly fish, in fact practically like a king, pop said. And like a king I will reward you. You have it to express a wish and it shall be granted, he said.

That can be remedied easily if the teacher will study the situation a little. A child has nothing to do with barter. Money and its allied interests have little meaning to him. He knows that money buys the things he likes. Beyond that his mind is a blank to the whole business. That is the first hurdle.
